ANOTHER SON IS LOST TO CROKER

Herbert V. is Found Dead on Train in Kansas, Having Been Drugged.

WAS ON HIS WAY TO RANCH

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Herbert V. Croker, a son of Richard Croker of New York, was found dead on a southbound Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway train between Kansas City and Newton, Kas., today. He had died during the night, evidently from the effects of a drug administered at Kansas City, where he took the train last night for Bliss, Okla.

Croker was found dead in a car seat just before the train reached Newton, and his body was taken from the train there. His identity was not known until a message was received from Richard Croker, Jr., his brother at New York, several hours later, asking the authorities to hold the remains and stating he would leave immediately for Newton.

Letters Reveal Identity.

The first clue to Croker's identity was a letter found in the dead man's pocket, addressed by Zach Mulhall, formerly of Oklahoma, but now holding a wild west show in New York city, to Joseph Miller, manager of the "101" ranch at Bliss, Okla. Inquiry by telephone developed that Croker was not known at the ranch. He was on his way to the ranch for an outing.

Following a message of inquiry sent to New York city the coroner took charge of the body and empanneled a jury. An inquest was begun this evening.

The Kansas City police tonight found a young negro who was seen to put Croker on the train here. He is Charles Woodson, a porter at the Coates hotel. Woodson says Croker had been drinking when he arrived at the hotel, about 8 o'clock last night. After checking a small valise at the hotel, Croker, the negro says, asked where there was an opium joint.

Went to a "Hop Joint."

After repeated requests, Woodson says he agreed to accompany Croker to a resort. They then went together to a Chinese resort, where they remained an hour. Woodson says he then took Croker directly to the train at the Union station.

Croker's valise is still at the check stand at the hotel. Croker did not register at the hotel, and it is not believed that he went to any other hotel during his brief stay in Kansas City.

Woodson was arrested later and held pending the result of the investigation.

Passengers on the train took particular notice when young Croker was assisted into a chair car at the Union station in Kansas City by a negro, because the white man was helpless, as if from liquor. The negro assisted Croker into a seat and then gave him a purse containing a railroad ticket and $19, counting the money out to Croker.

The passengers heard Croker say: "Now I want you to send me the rest of it." The negro asked Croker to write his address, but Croker refused, and finally the negro wrote as Croker dictated. The address was "Bliss, Okla., care 101 ranch."

Immediately after the train started Croker fell into a deep sleep, snoring loudly. Later he grew quieter. As the train neared Newton, the conductor, who wished to take up Croker's ticket, shook him to arouse him, and found him dead. There are no marks of violence on the young man's body, and the police do not believe he died of heart trouble, as he was of fine physical development.

NEW YORK, May 12.—News of the sudden death of Herbert Croker, son of Richard Croker, was received in this city today from Newton, Kan., by his eldest brother, Richard, Jr., and his mother. The news threw the entire family, especially his mother, into the deepest grief.

A cablegram was sent to his father in Ireland. This is the second death in the family. Frank Croker having died last January from injuries received while racing his automobile at Ormond, Fla. The death of Frank Croker completely unnerved the father.

NEW WAGE SCALE IS FINALLY COMPLETED

The Amalgamated Committee Adopts Last Foot Note—Alarm Over Wheeling Strike.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DETROIT, MICH., May 12.—With the adoption of the last of the footnotes of the wage scale for sheet steel and tin plate workers today the wage committee has completed its report on the entire wage scale for the ensuing year for plants under the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

The scale as it now stands is a demand for the highest wages in effect for the last 10 years. The excellent condition of the iron, steel and tin industry is, in the opinion of the officials of the association, sufficient grounds for the big advance wanted. An important factor in the report of the wage committee is that the limited output clause, which has caused more trouble at the union mills than any other, has been strongly reaffirmed. A movement had been on foot to abolish it owing to the plea put forth by the union mills that they cannot compete successfully with the non-union plants of the United States Steel Corporation, where no limit is placed on production. Monday the complete report of the wage committee will go before the convention and, as it is merely a formal confirmation, the scale will stand.

A short session of the convention was held this morning, and in the absence of President T. J. Shaffer, who was called to Wheeling by the strike at the Whitaker-Glessner mills again breaking out, William Gibson of Pittsburgh occupied the chair. Considerable apprehension is felt among the delegates over the breaking out of the trouble at Wheeling again.

More Trouble at Whitaker Mill.

WHEELING, W. VA., May 12.—(Special.)—President Shaffer is here to try and settle trouble, which has broken out at the Whitaker plant of the Whitaker-Glessner Company. The union men claim the company has imported more non-union men into the mill, which the company denies.

COLLAPSE OF GAS HOLDER IS FATAL TO FOUR MEN

Buildings Within Radius of Half a Mile in South Philadelphia Were Shaken. Many Persons Burned.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Four men were killed, and two score others more or less seriously burned today by the collapse of an immense gas holder at the Point Breeze works of the United Gas Improvement Company, in the southern part of the city. The dead men are George H. Whalen, a tin roofer, James Ogilbie, his assistant, Owen Brady and Robert Fleming, employes of the gas company.

As the holder collapsed, the great volume of gas which it contained exploded with such force that buildings within a radius of half a mile were shaken. Whalen and Ogilbie were at work on a small building nearby. More than 50 men were a short distance from the tank, and nearly all were either badly burned or scorched before they could escape from the fire zone. About a dozen men are still in the hospitals under treatment for burns.

The donor stated the original should have been called the diplodocus Hollandaise, for the finder, "but," said he, "Dr. Holland anticipated me. He now tells me that the cases in which this reproduction came over are going back to Pittsburgh filled with valuable specimens for the museum there."

Mr. Carnegie closed by calling the occasion another link binding together lands which never should have been estranged, and which no doubt would be reunited some day.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, HARRISBURG, May 12.

The deaths of Samuel S. Shubert, the New York theatrical manager, at the Commonwealth hotel, and Max Stattheimer, a New York manufacturer of women's shirt waists, at the Harrisburg hospital today, brings up the total list of victims of yesterday morning's wreck of the Cleveland and Cincinnati express of the Pennsylvania railroad to 22.

Sixteen of the dead have been identified and six charred bodies at the temporary morgue remain unidentified. Two more of the injured, Joseph Eberly of New York and Mrs. Anna Peters of Cleveland, are not expected to live. There are still 43 injured at the hospital and several others at the hotels, some of whose condition is serious.

The hospital physicians have only slight hope of the recovery of George Loeffler, a Pittsburgh chemist, who was traveling from New York with J. W. and J. W. Anderson, Jr., also of Pittsburgh, and with whom Mr. Loeffler is associated in business. The Andersons, father and son, are still at the hospital. Their condition is not serious, and they expect to go home in a few days. Dr. Willard, who came here from Pittsburgh early this morning to attend the Andersons, returned home this afternoon, satisfied that they would recover.

Mr. Donnelly Leaves Harrisburg.

Charles Donnelly, the Pittsburgh millionaire, a wreck victim, left this evening for his home in company with his two daughters, his son and his physician, Dr. L. Litchfield, in a special car in which a bed had been constructed for Mr. Donnelly. He was taken in a carriage to the station, where he was placed on a rolling chair and wheeled to his car. Mr. Donnelly's face, head and body are mutilated, and there are serious cuts on his body.

W. K. Taylor of 229 Craig street, Pittsburgh, another wreck victim, also left tonight on the train to which Mr. Donnelly's car was attached. Mr. Taylor's condition is not alarming. Misses Anna and Eleanor Gregg left at noon for their Allegheny home. Miss Anna was able to walk to the train, but her sister required much help. Her condition is serious.

Mrs. Albert J. Barr and her two daughters, W. H. Van Tine of Ivy street, M. O. Goggins of Avalon and Mrs. Frank Ailes and her daughter left on the same train with the Gregg sisters. James A. Dawes, Paul Dinkel and E. L. Harmon, Pittsburgh victims, are still at the hospital. They are getting along nicely and are out of danger. Mrs. Harmon came here today and is staying at the Lochiel hotel.

Col. Bope Rests Comfortably.

Col. H. P. Bope of Pittsburgh is staying at the residence of James M. Bailey, general manager of the Central Iron and Steel Company. Col. Bope was resting comfortably this evening, and will leave for home in a few days.

A public funeral of the unidentified dead will be held tomorrow. Each body will be nicely dressed and short services will be held at the Market Square Presbyterian church. Different ministers will officiate.

The first funeral, that of the Italian child, took place here today. The body was buried in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The railroad company still has a large force of watchmen on duty at the scene of the disaster to prevent the taking away of any valuables that may be found.

The coroner, George C. Krause, with his jury today again visited the scene of the wreck and interviewed several of the injured and friends of the dead. The inquest will not be held until after the railroad company has completed its inquiry into the cause of the disaster.

SEVEN MEN ARE KILLED BY DYNAMITE IN A MINE

Fragments of Bodies Are Scattered in All Directions, Presenting a Most Gruesome Spectacle.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUTTE, MONT., May 12.—Seven men were killed and one injured, probably fatally, in an explosion in the Cora mine, one of the Heinze properties, this afternoon. The dead are:

Daniel O'Brien, John Houlahan, R. H. Hill, Dave Gill, Nels Wampa, John Kramer and Daniel Bailey. The injured man, Hugh McGillis, suffered concussion of the brain.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Nels Wampa was carrying 40 sticks of dynamite up a raise to join companions on the 1,100-foot level, when the dynamite exploded with terrific force. It is believed that Wampa accidentally touched his candle to the explosive.

Wampa was blown to bits, fragments of his body being found several hundred feet away. Two men working nearby were blown to pieces. The remains when picked up filled seven sacks. Four others 100 feet distant were instantly killed, though their bodies were not mutilated.

While Foreman Thomas was groping in the dense smoke to rescue the men, he found half the top of Wampa's head hanging to an electric light wire over 100 feet distant from the scene of the explosion.

APPROPRIATION BILLS ARE CUT

Governor Slashes Millions of Dollars Off Measures for Charity.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Amounts Are Reduced to Keep Within the Estimated State Revenues.

WRECK INFLUENCED ACTION

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, HARRISBURG, May 12.

Millions of dollars have been cut off the appropriation bills passed by the recent legislature for the state's public and private charities, which were finally disposed of today by Gov. Pennypacker. The governor immediately afterward left in company with Private Secretary Wharton for his weekly visit to his family at his farm at Schwenksville.

A statement furnished by the executive department shows in detail the governor's action on each bill. No formal reason is assigned by the governor for the action on the bills, probably because it was known in advance that it would be necessary to materially reduce them in order to keep within the estimated state revenues of $25,000,000 for the next two years.

The Harrisburg hospital is one of the bills which has been approved as passed. The governor intended to cut its appropriation of $42,500 in half, but the good work of the hospital in caring for the victims of the South Harrisburg disaster induced him to change his mind. The hospital gets $20,000 for maintenance and $22,500 for new buildings.

Scarcely any of the public or private charities have been allowed a larger amount this year than was granted them by the governor two years ago. Four hundred thousand dollars has been knocked off the appropriation of $800,000 to the new state homeopathic hospital. A cut of $300,000 has been made in the appropriation to the proposed hospital for the feeble-minded and epileptic at Spring City.

The state normal schools have not even been overlooked by the governor in slashing the bills. His action on the general appropriation bill, which contains the usual appropriation of $11,000,000 to the public schools will be announced tomorrow. It is thought he has allowed it to stand practically as it passed. The following is the statement:

BODIES OF DEAD ARE RECEIVED

Four Identified Pittsburgh Victims of Harrisburg Wreck Arrive for Burial.

COFFINS REMAIN UNOPENED

Four of Pittsburgh's dead, as the result of the wreck near Harrisburg, were brought to this city yesterday and prepared for burial, while the body of the unknown "Mr. Shaw of Pittsburgh," still lies in the morgue at Harrisburg, awaiting identification and a claimant. Members of the various Shaw families in this city who could be seen yesterday were at a loss to know who was the victim of the wreck.

The last of the four known Pittsburgh dead to arrive was the body of George Zeiger, manager and treasurer of the Incandescent Supply Company of Sixth avenue, which was taken off the train at East Liberty station at 6:45 o'clock last night. Awaiting the body was a delegation from Ibn Gabriol lodge, 114, Independent Order B'nai B'rith, and another from the "Homeless 26," of which organizations deceased was a member. The body was accompanied by Charles and A. L. Zeiger, brothers of the victim.

The remains were taken to the home of Charles Zeiger, 5722 Howe street, where funeral services will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony will be under direction of the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy and Rabbi Michael Fried. Interment will follow in McKees Rocks cemetery.

Victor Crabbe's Body Home.

In respect to the dead and the family, the Keystone Bicycle club, whose quarters adjoin the home of Charles Zeiger, where the body lies, have indefinitely postponed a dance which was to have been given in the clubhouse tonight. Mr. Zeiger, who was 23 years old and unmarried, was born in Austria, locating in Pittsburgh six years ago. Besides his two brothers in this city, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Flora Levy of Chicago and Mrs. Minnie Fishman of New York; one brother, Jacob, in Piqua, O., and a father and two small brothers in Austria.

The remains of Victor L. Crabbe arrived yesterday morning at East Liberty station at 7:40 o'clock, in the private car of Vice President Charles E. Hughes of the Pennsylvania railroad. It was accompanied by Mrs. Crabbe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Mr. and Mrs. Reese and Dr. Patterson. On the same train was the body of Paul Bright, accompanied by Mrs. Bright and her brother.

The remains of Mr. Crabbe were taken to the residence of Robert Pitcairn, 5200 Ellsworth avenue, where Mr. and Mrs. Crabbe have made their home since marriage. Scores of friends and relatives called at the Pitcairn home yesterday and floral tributes were elaborate. Mrs. Crabbe was severely affected by the shock. Funeral services over the remains will be held at the Pitcairn home at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Kinsey Smith, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, of which congregation Mr. Crabbe was an active member, will conduct the services. Interment will be in Homewood cemetery.

Take Remains to Sharon.

The body of Mr. Bright was taken to the home of his father-in-law, F. E. Schenck, South Negley avenue, where Mrs. Bright will hereafter make her home with her two sons, aged 3 years and 16 months, respectively. Many friends and relatives called at the Schenck home yesterday, but the casket was not opened. Funeral services will be held at the Schenck home at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan of the Third Presbyterian church will officiate. Interment, which will be private, will be made in Homewood cemetery.

The remains of James R. Phillips, president of the newly formed Phillips Sheet and Tin Plate Company of Clarksburg, W. Va., arrived at East Liberty station at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains were removed to his late residence at 1029 Murray Hill avenue, where funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory of the Third United Presbyterian church officiating. The coffin was unopened, except for immediate relatives. Following the services the body was taken to Sharon, Pa., the home of Mrs. Phillips, where another service will be held in the United Presbyterian church of that place this afternoon, with the Rev. W. J. Snodgrass presiding. Mr. Phillips had no children.

Anxious friends and relatives of sufferers still in the hospitals at Harrisburg, kept in almost hourly communication with that city yesterday, seeking reports of their condition, while in almost every instance, immediate relatives had gone on to the scene of the catastrophe. A few of the survivors who did not return Thursday night, arrived during the day, among whom were Mrs. Albert J. Barr and her two daughters.

NEGLIGENCE NOT CAUSE OF WRECK

Railroad Company So Convinced, but Will Make an Investigation.

DYNAMITE CARS "BEHIND AIR"

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, May 12.

Officials at Broad street station said today that persons have drawn wrong inferences from some of the published details of the Harrisburg wreck. They say that the boiler of the engine of the passenger train did not explode and that the engine itself was not demolished, but is still in good condition. It was also pointed out that the shifting engine, on account of which the freight train was brought to a sudden standstill, was doing its regular duty and was not out of place. The jamming of the rear cars of the freight was caused, it is said, by the too sudden application of the air-brakes, and had this been done more gradually the accident would probably not have occurred. The railroad officials also say that both powder and dynamite were being carried, about 2,000 pounds in all.

No official statement of the cause of the wreck and the placing of the blame will be made for a week or so, for it will be necessary, owing to the unusual nature of the accident, to make a searching investigation and to gather testimony from persons who will not be able to appear for such purpose for some time. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is satisfied that the wreck was purely an accident and not the result of negligence. However, they will make every effort to discover the circumstances surrounding the catastrophe.

A United States statute, bitterly opposed by railroads before its enactment some years ago, provides that all freight trains must be equipped with 50 per cent of airbrakes, that is, the air connections extend from the engine half way back to the caboose. When the air is applied the front half of the train becomes rigid and unyielding until it comes to a stop, while the rear part, feeling no air pressure, is as uncontrolled as the tail of a kite.

It is asserted that the car or cars which contained the dynamite which blew up No. 19 were "behind the air," that is, that they were a part of the rear half of the freight train, a fact which explains why they were "buckled" out onto the passenger track when the freight was so suddenly stopped.

Another question under investigation is the danger to be apprehended in case of wreck from the Pintsch light gas tanks underneath the Pullmans. Experts say they are far more dangerous than the old-time kerosene lamps and that they should be prohibited by law and electric illumination substituted. Many of the modern Pullmans are now equipped with incandescent lights and they are superior to gas in every respect.

WOMAN DIES IN HIS ARMS.

James R. Barnes of Uniontown Rescues Three Persons from Burning Cars at Harrisburg.

UNIONTOWN, May 12.—(Special.)—James R. Barnes, the well-known coal operator of this city, had a thrilling experience in the wreck at Harrisburg yesterday morning. He was thrown 50 yards and alighted on a pile of ashes. On recovering consciousness, he ran to the wreck and pulled three women out of the burning cars. Two of them were taken to the hospital and will likely recover, but the third died in Mr. Barnes' arms.

When thrown from the car Mr. Barnes had on his trousers, shirt and one shoe. His money was in his trousers and he distributed more than $100 in relieving the wounded and needy. He arrived home last night wearing one Oxford shoe and one high shoe. His coat and vest were not alike and he had on a calico shirt. His hat was one picked up near the scene of the wreck.

RUSSIANS WIN A PASS.

Japanese Advance Up to the Bayonets of Enemy but Are Repulsed and Compelled to Retire.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 12.—The Russians retired to Chimiaotz May 5, and on May 6 the fighting was resumed and lasted all day long. The result was indecisive. Simultaneously detachments were engaged seven miles from Ufangtu. The Japanese advanced up to the Russian bayonets, but were repulsed.

The night of May 6 the Japanese were reinforced and the Russians commenced to retire. May 7 a third Russian detachment advanced to Tavengu pass and met the Japanese against whom the former operated successfully for possession of the pass. The same day the Japanese resumed a decisive offensive against the Russian right flank, but were repulsed.

NAN PATTERSON IS SET AT LIBERTY

She Gets Check from Friendly Newspaper and Pays Fine of J. Morgan Smith.

CHEERING CROWD GREETS HER

NEW YORK, May 12.—After more than 11 months in prison and three mistrials on the charge of murdering "Caesar" Young, Nan Patterson walked from the Tombs today a free woman. As she left the building, 2,000 people cheered her. The move to discharge Nan Patterson came rather unexpectedly. An hour before noon District Attorney Jerome appeared before Recorder Goff in special sessions and announced he desired to move the discharge of the former chorus girl without bail and on her own recognizance.

Not the least interesting of the day's developments, and perhaps the great dramatic climax to the troubles of the former "Florodora" girl, was the reunion in freedom with her sister, Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, and her brother-in-law, J. Morgan Smith, both of whom were discharged by Justice Cowing, after being held on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Patterson case.

Smith was also held for contempt of court in failing to obey a subpoena as a witness at the first trial. He was fined $20 and released on this charge. Then came a surprise, for Nan Patterson herself paid the fine out of a $300 check, which had been given her by a friendly newspaper.

District Attorney Jerome announced his decision to free Nan Patterson in a speech in the course of which he declared he did not believe that at this time "in this country, another trial would result in anything else than a disagreement."

Recorder Goff, the venerable judge who has tried so many famous criminal cases, said to the girl who had walked slowly into the court room and taken the same seat which she occupied during the trying days of her last trial:

"Nan Patterson, the district attorney has seen fit to recommend your discharge. I feel bound to say I fully coincide in the decision. There is nothing I can say in this case that has not already been said, but let me entreat you in your future life to remember the terrible ordeal through which you have passed and to permit every action of your life to be guided by that remembrance. Good-bye." And the recorder bowed his head as he uttered the final words and closed the case.

A moment later the girl was shaking hands with her counsel. Then she walked steadily from the court to find herself in the arms of her father just outside the door. The crowds in the corridor cheered and the police let them have their way. As she reached the street door the demonstration was taken up by a throng outside. Hurrying through the crowd she took her place in a cab, smiling and nodding to the friendly greetings. As the cab started down town to the office of her counsel mounted police surrounded it and kept back the increasing crowd which was threatening one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever seen at the Tombs.

In Mr. Levy's office Miss Patterson briefly expressed her thanks to her counsel, announced to the newspaper men she was going to her mother in Washington and was driven to the St. Paul hotel, where she lived prior to "Caesar" Young's death. Then she met her sister and they took an automobile ride. J. Morgan Smith joined the two later and the trio dined together. Miss Patterson took a late train for Washington tonight.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The first intimation that Mrs. Patterson, the mother of Nan Patterson, had of her daughter's release was contained in the Associated Press bulletin from New York. Mrs. Patterson at first would not believe the news, but when convinced that the report was correct and that her daughter would arrive home this evening she collapsed, but soon recovered.

NEGRO DESPERADO LYNCHED BY MOB

He Compels Illinois Legislator to Ransom Wife and Child from Death.

PREACHER BRINGS THE MONEY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CAIRO, ILL., May 12.—Tom Witherspoon, a negro, charged with robbing Assemblyman Fred Hess, tonight was taken from officers at Belmont, Mo., and lynched by a mob, who hanged the negro in the public square.

A negro today went to the home of Fred Hess, near Belmont, and at the point of a rifle demanded $800. Hess told the negro he did not have that much money in the house. The negro ordered him to go to Belmont and get the money. He compelled Hess to hitch up a horse to a buggy and ordered him to get in the rig with his wife and child.

The negro then saddled another horse and mounting it, told Hess to drive toward Belmont. When near Belmont, the negro forced Mrs. Hess and her child to get out of the buggy and enter a deserted shanty. The negro then told Hess to drive to Belmont and send the money back by a negro preacher inside of one hour, or his wife and her child would be killed.

Hess hurried to Belmont and sent the money back with the negro preacher. The desperado immediately mounted the horse and rode up the Iron Mountain railroad tracks. A posse was organized at once by Belmont and Columbus citizens, and a small party followed the negro on a switch engine. The searchers discovered that he took refuge in a swamp.

Bloodhounds were secured and Witherspoon was found in a deserted shanty. He was arrested on a charge of robbing Hess and taken to Belmont by officers. A mob of several hundred persons in Belmont took the negro, and despite his begging and protestations, rushed him into the public square, secured a rope from a large swing and strung the negro up as the guilty man.

Republicans Aid in Passing Filter Payroll and Artesian Well Bills.

SELECT TO MEET ON MONDAY

Director Bigelow last night made up for recent reverses in common council, controlling that body easily for his ordinance creating 69 additional positions in the bureau of filtration and also putting through the Roenigk artesian well ordinance, which has been long opposed by members of Mr. Roenigk's own party in councils.

To secure the passage of the filtration ordinance it was necessary for Director Bigelow to get the votes of a number of Republican members. James McKnight of the Fourteenth ward, Dr. A. Barr of the Eighteenth, C. C. Kohne of the Twenty-third ward, and John Lewis of the Twenty-eighth ward are Republicans who went along with the administration program on both the filtration pay-roll and artesian well propositions. The vote on both measures was 35 to 7.

William Brand attacked the filtration ordinance, stating that councils had already passed an ordinance authorizing 68 employes in the bureau and with all the plans completed for the work, the contracts let and work on the filter plant actually begun the department was asking for 69 employes in addition to the 68 previously authorized. He asked the chairman or members of the finance committee, who had affirmatively recommended the ordinance to councils, to explain the necessity for the additional employes. "No person on this floor can explain what these 69 men are wanted for except that they are to inflate the pay-roll," declared Mr. Brand, and no one attempted to challenge him, except Charles Gulland of the Thirty-seventh ward, who said:

"I understand that these men are to be used in the installation of water meters."

This explanation astonished Mr. Brand. "Will you tell me why they want engineers, levelmen, rodmen and chainmen to install meters?" he demanded.

Mr. Gulland did not again reply, but Chairman D. J. Bole of the finance committee said that he had taken a great deal of trouble to post himself on the matter, but the whole sense of his explanation was that he had seen Supt. Knowles and he had been assured by Mr Knowles that the 69 additional men were needed and that the construction of the filtration plant was being retarded by holding up the ordinance in councils.

"I am surprised at the chairman of the finance committee," said W. A. Martin to Mr. Bole. "At the last meeting of this body he voted against a motion to call Mr. Knowles before councils to give us the information we ask, and then he sneaks out himself to see Mr. Knowles and comes in here and tells us that these men are needed and expects us to take his word for it."

The administration members did not attempt to answer the inquiries propounded by Brand, Martin and others, and the motion to suspend the rules was carried and the bill passed finally.

Artesian Well Bill Passes.

The Roenigk artesian well ordinance, authorizing contracts for artesian wells to cost $10,000, Mr. Brand moved to postpone indefinitely. The motion was lost by a vote of 35 to 7, the rules suspended and the bill passed finally. Mr. Roenigk received the congratulations of his Citizens colleagues, and Councilman Hammer of the Twentieth ward applauded when the vote was announced.

The finance committee was given permission to sit during a five-minutes' recess of council, and approved bills for the entertainment of the rivers and harbors committee of congress, amounting to $1,602, and sanctioned the appropriation of this amount out of the contingent fund, which was supplied from the street repaving and Point bridge funds. The report of the finance committee was adopted, as were a number of other measures from this committee. A number of bills from the public works and surveys committees were also passed finally by common council.

There was a controversy over the payment of bills from the filtration bureau, amounting to $416, which Controller Larkin had turned down because they were not authorized. Mr. Brand objected to the bills on the ground that they were illegal, but the administration had the votes, and they went through. A bill authorizing the payment of $5,197 to M. F. Howley for extra work on a driveway in Schenley park was passed.

The ordinance directing the director of public works to lease the Diamond market property to a private syndicate was introduced. The ordinance directs the property bounded by East, West, South and North Diamond streets to be leased to the Market Square Land and Building Company for a period of 99 years, beginning May 1, 1905. The ordinance was referred to the public works committee and, according to the program of Director Bigelow, is to be sent to a subcommittee and remain there for safekeeping.

The ordinance provides that the company shall erect a fireproof building on the market site of not less than 19 stories, and shall give the city the use and income of a market on the ground floor, with the privilege of holding public meetings in an auditorium in the building which will seat 5,000 persons. The ordinance contains a clause that at the end of 99 years the building shall revert to the city.

Director Bigelow is opposed to the scheme, and declares that the parties promoting it have not the money to carry out the project, and intend to use it for speculative purposes. The promoters claim that they have ample capital, and that Theodore Barnsdall, the oil capitalist, is interested in the project.

Select Meets Monday.

C. W. Helmold presented an ordinance authorizing the mayor to appoint a temporary city solicitor to compile a new city digest for the sum of $7,500. Dr. A. M. Barr presented an ordinance vacating Morningside street, Eighteenth ward, from Butler street to the Allegheny Valley railroad. This street is, Dr. Barr says, between the points named, about 150 feet long and 40 feet wide.

A special meeting of select council will be held on Monday afternoon to pass the filtration and artesian well ordinances and other bills approved by common council last night.

Held on Conspiracy Charge.

GREENSBURG, May 12.—(Special.)—At a hearing before Justice of the Peace J. Frank Beatty this afternoon Dr. G. M. Speck and D. F. Culp of Donora, were held for court in $1,000 bail on charges of conspiracy preferred by John G. Beale, a hotel men of New Kensington. Beale alleged that on Saturday night they came to his hotel and purchased whisky, taking it away from the hotel on Sunday. Beale was subsequently tried for selling liquor on Sunday, but was acquitted.

CITIZENS WILL SUE HILL SCHOOL BOARD

Prompt Action Is Planned by Eleventh Ward Residents at a Mass Meeting.

A meeting of the Eleventh ward school board and a gathering of indignant citizens of the ward, who voted to restrain the school directors from purchasing the proposed Miller street site for a new building, took place last night in the Moorhead school. The officials were invited to attend the mass meeting, but declined, and the two strongly opposed conventions went on without molestation from either party. The citizens decided to employ an attorney and straightway enter proceedings against the board. A bill of equity will be filed, and the court will be asked to restrain the school board from making the purchase, on account of the alleged excessive price and the poor location of the property.

About 150 citizens of the ward attended the meeting. J. Charles Dicken was named as chairman and Harry McAteer as secretary. The school board was in session when the mass meeting began its deliberations, and a committee consisting of H. Obernauer, J. Vosksmp and C. Arnold was appointed to invite the board to attend the meeting and hear the objection. The directors stated that they would likely continue in session until midnight, and could not attend.

A resolution was adopted protesting against the purchase of the Miller-street site and requesting the board to cancel and rescind the agreement to purchase. This action was carried to the board by Secretary McAteer. He reported that he got as far as the door to the board room, and that two members of the board refused to convey the message to that body, stating that nothing could be done to change the board's plans, as the ground had been purchased and plans of the architect were being considered.

The price of the piece optioned, $29,000, or about $250 a front foot, was declared to be exorbitant, while the location was at the extreme end of the ward. It was asserted that $500 had already been paid on the site to secure the option, which had been secured for the board by a nonresident of the ward, he getting an option of $20,000 and asking the board $29,000, it was alleged. It was also alleged that bonds for the purchase had already been sold at 4 per cent without the formality of advertising for bids.

DEMOCRATS TO ELECT DELEGATES TONIGHT

Primaries Will Be Very Quiet and in Many Districts the Polls Will Not Be Opened.

Democratic primaries are scheduled this evening between 5 and 7 o'clock in every precinct in the county. There is nothing to fight about, and in many quarters the polls will not be opened.

The primaries are for the election of delegates to legislative district conventions who will select the 20 state delegates and the 69 delegates to the county convention. The county convention is to be held in Old City hall, Tuesday morning. It will nominate James A. Clark for county commissioner and appoint a committee of 11 to fill the balance of the ticket. This committee will have charge of the fusion negotiations with the Citizens.

Commissioner Clark has named all of the county delegates and will be in complete control of the convention. The state delegates will all be friends of Col. J. M. Guffey, and follow his leadership in the state convention of May 24.

Making People Think.

One of the hardest tasks in the world is to make people think. The grind of every-day life does lead the mind into a narrow groove. Most of us only think we think.

This big-lot proposition in Summit Park has started a great many brains to working in new channels during the past 10 days. There has been a steady stream of inquiry flowing into our offices since May 2, the day Summit Park was put before the public, and we don't mind saying that we are very much pleased with the results of our efforts up to date.

Once you get a man's undivided and unprejudiced attention you really can convince him that two and two make four. We claim credit for the discovery. The difficulty is to get his attention. So many persons have been trying to prove to him that two and two make ten, that he scarcely trusts his own arithmetic.

What we want you to do is to put everything else out of your mind for a moment and take in a few real facts about Summit Park. Two and two make exactly four in this new suburb, and every man gets a square deal.

When we say 3 cents to 3¾ cents per square foot for choice level frontage on the car line and close to it, we mean it. That is to say, we are selling lots 100x200 feet, for $750, and lots 100x250 feet for $750. We have a few 50x140-foot lots for $375, on the car line, and a few others 75x180 feet, for $575.

Now, this property is only 35 minutes from town, nearer than Highland Park, Bellevue, or Wilkinsburg. What is there to prevent it from being worth $50 to $75 per foot in a short time? Nothing can stop it, unless Pittsburgh stops growing and the government goes to smash.

Come out Saturday or Sunday and have a look at it. We won't have a whole army of agents there to grab hold of you as soon as you step off the car, but there will be five or six agreeable young men at the office to tell you all you want to know.

Terms, 10 per cent cash, 3 per cent per month, 10 per cent discount for cash in 60 days. No interest and no taxes till lot is paid for. Only one house to a lot, no house to cost less than $2,500. Building line on every street.

The engineers began work today on the new water system for Summit Park. The gas is already there. The street graders are at work and contracts have been let for sidewalks. What more can you ask, and all for 3 to 3¾ cents per square foot?

Take Charleroi Cars at Wood Street and Third Avenue. Express Cars leave at 9 minutes after the hour. Get off at Summit Park Station in 35 minutes.

Summer Clothes That Men Like Together With a Mention of Certain Belongings of Men's Dress.

Summer suits may mean a two-piece or a three-piece suit. It is a matter of preference. We have both kinds in largest variety and at prices to meet the conditions of any purse.

About nineteen-twentieths of the men of Pittsburg now select their clothes ready to put on. Simply the evolution of things. A man can now own two good suits for what was the price of one when he had his clothes made to measure. And all our clothes are ahead of those made to measure.

When everything of wear—everything for women, for men, for girls, for boys—is gradually settling on ready-made garments, it is folly to argue that ready-mades are "not in it" with made-to-measures.

Name your style of suit, and we'll give it to you with all the perfection of custom tailoring and only charge you half as much.

Blue Serge Suits, single and double-breasted styles, $15.00 to $30.00. Our special blue serge suit, lined with silk, costs only $25.00.

Two-piece Suits of fancy cheviots, worsteds and serge, various mannish colors, $8.50 up to $25.00.

In the general variety of suits for Summer, including all cloths and colors and styles, $10.00 to $35.00.

Men's Hats at $1.85—

You can choose either a derby or a soft hat.

In black derbies we have all sizes, except 6⅞.

In brown derbies all sizes.

In black soft hats all sizes up to 7⅜.

Saturday, May 13, 1905.

Neither detective inquiry nor offers of reward can procure any information about Hay Philips. There does not seem to be any such person, although Butler county warrants have been flying about The Gazette office in his name.

The remains of the great sea-fighter John Paul Jones will be brought to this country from France with a worthy escort. Rear Admiral Sigsbee with a squadron of four cruisers will perform this office, and the occasion will be marked by fitting honors, both in France and this country. It is rather strange that the remains of a man who ranks among our great naval heroes should have remained so long in an obscure grave abroad, but whatever neglect there may have been in the past full amends will be made now.

President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western railroad has relieved the monotony of expert discussion of the railroad rate question by filing a brief advocating regulation by the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Stickney declares that rebates and discriminations persist in one form or another and will until power of prevention is given some impartial tribunal, independent alike of the favor of transporter or shipper. This gentleman talks like one who knows and who appreciates the difficulty of interested parties striking a square deal.

Chairman Burton's speech at Parkersburg indicates a marked change in his attitude from that exhibited in Pittsburgh. It may be taken to mean that with the chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, as with most of us, seeing is believing. Mr. Burton is known as a very conscientious man of strong convictions. The tour of the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Parkersburg has brought to his attention the illimitable possibilities of traffic, with river improvement, and he is frank to declare his personal willingness to have the navigation budget increased to meet requirements.

It has been quite recently that Richard Croker returned to his English home after having been called to this country by the fatal automobile accident to one of his sons at Palm Beach. Now another son is dead under mysterious circumstances. He was put on a train in Kansas City by a colored man, who seemed to be taking care of him, as he was not in a condition to care for himself, and during the night was supposed to be sleeping, but in the morning he was found to be dead. The circumstances suggest that some drug may have been administered, but the facts are yet to be ascertained.

Mr. Carnegie made his biggest gift yesterday. It was the diplodocus which Dr. Holland had mounted in this city and recently took over to England. It was formally presented to the British museum yesterday in the presence of a distinguished gathering of scientific men, Mr. Carnegie making one of his characteristic addresses. Incidentally it was mentioned that the cases in which the diplodocus was brought would return to Pittsburgh filled with valuable additions to the Carnegie museum. That means a big lot, for the diplodocus was an animal whose size would dwarf an ordinary whale.

No new name has been mentioned for president of the Equitable Society for several days. This cessation of an industry recently so active corresponds with the beginning of personal examinations of the officers of the society by State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks. Very personal questions are put and those who have been carrying on the quest for a new president have other matters to think of now. Both President Alexander and Vice President Hyde have been on the stand and the latter is to be called again to explain the underwriting operations of "James H. Hyde and Associates." A full record is being kept and eventually the store of interesting information gathered will be accessible to the public.

Back to Work Again.

President Roosevelt arrived in Washington at midnight of Thursday. He sent word that he would be ready to take up regular business the next day, and yesterday he had a meeting with the cabinet. In the evening he conferred with Secretary Taft on the Bowen-Loomis affair.

The president was away from Washington five weeks, traveled more than 6,000 miles, and passed through 12 states and three territories. He has held numerous receptions, attended numerous banquets, chased jack rabbits and coyotes in Oklahoma, hunted bears and bobcats in the Rockies, and nearly every day when he was not hunting he was making speeches. On his way back he made a series of deliverances upon the issues of the day, which sent warm thrills through the country and gave the politicians much to ponder. And he landed in Washington greedy for work and was up and at it the morning after his arrival!

Was there ever a greater exponent of the strenuous life?

Warning to Uncle Sam.

In the remarkably frank speech which Premier Balfour has just made upon arrangements for the defense of the British empire, a statement is made of particular concern to this country. The speech was based upon a report of a committee of national defense which has had the aid of the best military and naval strategists that Great Britain possesses in preparing a comprehensive scheme for the effective distribution of British naval power and military posts. The speech dealt with general considerations as regards the position of the British empire, and it was only by way of incidental remark that he observed that "the committee had come to the conclusion that Jamaica and Trinidad would be the centers of great naval operations."

This brings the matter closely home to us. Trinidad is the southernmost of the West Indian islands, lying so close to Venezuela that on the map it looks like a detached piece of that country. Jamaica lies west of Haiti, south of Cuba, right in the main line of commerce from the North Atlantic to the isthmus of Panama. These points cannot become "the centers of great naval operations" without involving American interests far more deeply than the interests of the British empire. The remark cannot imply that conflict might arise between Great Britain and this country, as the very scheme of national defense which Premier Balfour was discussing is based upon the principle of lasting amity between Great Britain and the United States. Friendship with us has become the corner stone of British policy.

The only reasonable interpretation is that the distinguished strategists upon the committee had in view the attractions of Central and South America as a possible field for European expansion. Africa is parcelled out among the various powers, the rise of Japan has arrested schemes of Asiatic appropriation, and the rich resources of South America are now more inviting than ever. The Monroe doctrine stands in the way, but that is good only so far as we can make it good. It is just there in the opinion of far-seeing statesmen that the strain of twentieth century development will come. Premier Balfour's remark is part of the same strain of thought that once prompted Secretary Root to declare that the time would come when, if we expected to uphold the Monroe doctrine, we should have to fight for it. The only way to escape that contingency is to make such preparation that no nation will dare to make a fight over it.

Causes and Cures.

Consideration is passing from the horrors of the Harrisburg wreck to its causes and probable prevention of similar accidents in the future. There seems to be a quite general trend in the discussion toward some new exercise of the law making power. There is no suggestion of this sort from railroad men, for they realize the enormous expense of the catastrophe is a stronger inducement to seek prevention than any statute. Safety is the largest element in economical operation of a railroad.

This accident occurred in spite of the most modern appliances to secure safe operation. It was due to a danger far more familiar to railroad men than to the traveling public. Rear-end and head-on collisions are feared far less by the men who run trains with block systems than the "side swipe," that is, the collision with wreckage from a neighboring track. The presence of a high-explosive added to the destructiveness and horror of the accident in this case, but the same conditions might not be repeated in 50 years. The ever present danger is the "side swipe" and it can never be wholly eliminated until parallel tracks are widely separated and embankments maintained between. The cost of that plan is prohibitive, even in the case of the great Pennsylvania railroad.

It is notable that one of the most useful of modern safety appliances contributed to the wreck—in fact, caused it. No train ever "buckled" from the application of hand brakes. The law requires the use of power brakes on all trains to secure the safety of employes and the public. The sudden application of these caused the derailment of a freight car just as the locomotive of the passenger train passed. It is idle to talk of returning to hand brakes and low speeds, for the entire traveling public would protest.

There will be improvement in time in the design of cars that will lessen the probability of accidents of this character, but they cannot be wholly prevented as long as the present volume of traffic is handled with the same promptness. There are many hazards incidental to modern methods and the demands of civilization. Every effort should be made to lessen them and there is here a constant field for inventive achievement. The law, however, should be invoked only when absolutely necessary to compel the adoption of safety devices. In the past the progressive railroads, like the Pennsylvania, have led public sentiment in their prompt application of feasible improvements.

The Business Situation.

The department of agriculture this week estimated the condition of winter wheat at 92.5 per cent of an average crop. This is slightly above the April estimate, 16 per cent above the figures at the corresponding date a year ago, and about nine points above the 10-year average at this season. The total yield indicated by these figures is 460,000,000 bushels, the largest ever harvested and fully 100,000,000 bushels larger than the crop of 1904. As one commentator on the markets has aptly expressed it, Mother Nature has declared an extra dividend of 20 per cent, and taking the business situation as a whole, this promise of a bountiful wheat crop is of more importance than if a half score of railroads or other corporations had declared increased dividends. While the reports of weather conditions have not been uniformly favorable during the week, preparations are being made for the largest crops ever planted, and upon the harvests will depend the continuation of prosperous trade.

Iron trade statistics show that the production of pig iron is at present the largest on record. During the month of April there was a slight increase in production over consumption, but this is not extraordinary in view of the stocking-up which has been going on ever since it became apparent that consumers' requirements would be large. Beyond all question trade conditions are sound, and prospects have seldom, if ever, been brighter.

The time expires Monday for the payment of the first installment of the $29,000,000 government deposits in bank which were called in by the secretary of the treasury last month. Despite the increased demand from commercial borrowers, the withdrawal from circulation of half the sum mentioned has been accomplished without affecting the money market to the slightest degree. On the contrary, rates for call loans in New York declined to 2 per cent and at no time during the week advanced above 3 per cent. So far this month government expenditures have exceeded receipts by about $2,500,000, and treasury officials look for a considerable deficit for May, but June is expected to see a turn in the current of government finances, which with the withdrawal of deposits now in progress will increase the treasury balance to a comfortable figure. It is within the bounds of possibility that before our grain and cotton begin to move out New York will be called upon to export gold to Europe; but this is by no means certain, and the fact that rates for both call and time loans remain low is an indication of the feeling among bankers regarding a continuation of present easy monetary conditions.

The volume of bank exchanges is being maintained despite the comparative dullness in speculative circles. Here in Pittsburgh, where stock market transactions have fallen to the smallest of the year, the daily average clearances are $2,500,000 larger than for the corresponding period a year ago. This increase is due to the prevailing industrial activity, which is being augmented by improvement in mercantile circles.

Transactions on the New York stock exchange have fallen to the smallest total for months, but values have been well sustained. This condition of the market almost invariably follows a period of forced liquidation like that witnessed last month. There is a striking difference in sentiment, however, regarding this reaction and others that might be recalled. In the present instance it is clearly understood that large speculative pools assumed the task of "cornering" the wheat market, and at the same time running a bull campaign in the stock market. They took a gambler's chance and failed, but there were no developments in the industrial or financial world to adversely affect legitimate values, and, therefore, no real apprehension among investment holders of securities.

Much criticism is hurled at Prof. Triggs because he confesses ignorance of subjects he had lectured upon. Why single him out? The country is full of men who are fluent on topics of which they know nothing.

Wonders will never cease. A railroad president has filed an argument with the senate committee in favor of giving the interstate commerce commission power to fix rates.

Actress Patterson has been liberated on her own recognizance, but not until the effort to prove more than the facts has cost New York more than $100,000.

Massacres of Jews in the district about Jitomar are worse than at Kishenef, and Russian justice has not improved in the least in the year intervening.

Prof. Hicks predicted tornadoes in May, as any ordinary observer might, and missed the dates as widely as any one could.

Welcome to the International Railway congress. It hasn't arrived yet, but the sentiment will not spoil.

Some of those people fleeing from Panama are more desirous of a vacation than afraid of yellow fever.

Chicago had a tidal wave the other day. It was not high enough, however, to carry away all the filth.

Chairman Burton is improving upon acquaintance. He is for the Ohio river nine-foot channel.

From Pittsburgh to the Mississippi there is but one sentiment about the nine-foot channel.

Mr. Roosevelt's talk in Chicago appears to have done some good.

Advice to lovers in general: Don't write; call in person.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Men
Can counsel and give comfort to that grief
Which they themselves not feel: but tasting it,
Their counsel turns to passion, which before
Would give preceptial medicine to rage,
Fetter strong madness in a silken thread,
Charm ache with air, and agony with words. —Shakespeare.

You know how easy it is to advise others how to get rid of pain and aches, and how prone you are to make light of them.

But when you get a pain or ache in your own anatomy it is different, quite different, and the efforts of your friends to make light of them only make them worse.

You forget this when you get well and have a chance to minister to the pains and aches of another.

It is remarkable what a lot of mischief a little physical discomfort and suffering can cause.

Haven't you been made miserable by a tight shoe, a growling tooth, or a boil on your neck, where your collar is tightest? And have you ever found relief in the suggestions and observations of your friends concerning your trouble?

You are not the only one who has had to endure cold comfort of this sort. There was our friend Job who suffered much from boils, and he had friends, too, or there were those who posed as his friends, and thought to comfort him. But their comfort was anything but comforting, and he told them so.

* * *

It is very evident that Leonata, into whose mouth Shakespeare put the words at the head of this article, was onto his comforters, and would have none of their soft talk, and he lets them know he is on.

"I pray thee cease thy counsel,
Which falls into mine ears as profitless,
As water into sieve; give not me counsel;
Nor let no comforter delight mine ear
But such a one whose wrongs suit with mine."

And when his friend Antonio, who knew something of love misery himself, insisted on trying to comfort him Leonata blurted out impatiently:

"I pray thee peace; I will be flesh and blood;
For there was never yet philosopher
That could endure the toothache patiently;
However they have writ the style of gods."

What is said of toothache is applicable to a corn for they are precisely the same, only differently located, both being acute inflamation of tiny nerves, hardly as thick as the finest hair you can find on your head.

What a blessing they are not as thick as your thumb.

To those who haven't corns these most grievous discomforters are very trifling affairs, and they seem to take special delight in belittling them. The nerves don't mind this, but the sufferer does. It makes him feel the pain more acutely, also.

* * *

Many a girl has lost a beloved beau, one who was the making of a good husband, because of a painful corn.

Not knowing it was a corn he took her frowns, restlessness and distractedness to mean that he was not agreeable company. Had he known it was a corn he might have forgiven her, but as it was he took the blame all to himself, and quit.

Corns call for frowns, snappishness, and various manifestations of ill manner. The sufferer rarely being conscious of these, naturally wonders what can be the matter with her companions.

No one can ever know the extent of the mischief their corns have caused. Besides this their own suffering and inconvenience is trifling.

And what is worse corns may cause you to lose your soul. This may seem like a far-fetched scare, but when you come to think of it, how many times you have stayed away from church on account of a corn, and how often you have sat through the service without getting a particle of good from it, and even how often you have been swearing under your breath when you should have been praying.

Corns are about the most successful exciters of evil thoughts, profanity, and general ill feeling that mankind is liable to meet with in this life.

You may wonder why a kind Providence should send corns upon you to torment you, and to mar your happiness here, and to endanger it hereafter.

They are not sent upon you, but like well mannered blessings they come only on pressing invitation. You must not only invite them once, but many times, and insist upon their coming. And if you don't like them upon their first appearance, they will graciously retire and not feel offended in the least. But if nothing else will do you they will come and make their abode with you. And they are none of your idle, loafing visitors, but ever busy doing something, particularly about the time you get a new pair of shoes.

And haven't you noticed how busy a corn gets just before a rain in summer, or a thaw in winter? They are very knowing things, or they seem to be.

Talk about heartaches! They are not in it with cornaches of the same horse power.

Jumping toothache may outrank a cornache in point of activity, but in point of steady, plodding persistence and strict attention to business toothache is second class.

And then corns are so fashionable, too, and cost so much less that diamonds that the poorest can have them as well as the richest, and of precisely the same quality. There are no pinchbeck corns, all genuine.

* * *

Incorrect dressing is what is the matter with a great many women who think they are sickly. Physicians knowing this, or at least knowing they have no organic disease, advise a change of climate, an ocean voyage or a course at some rest resort.

To advise them to go to a shoe dealer who knows how to fit feet, and to wear moccasins in the house, would do them no good and lose him his job.

Shoe fitting is becoming more and more popular, so that in time the corn and bunion will be pretty generally eliminated, and it is becoming more generally known that shoes that fit not only prevent the formation of corns, but remove those that already exist.

Margaret E. Sangster, a popular woman writer, popular because of her good common sense, and her good natured style of writing, has this to say concerning woman's complaint that she is unfairly discriminated against in the business world:

"Their dress is against them. The corset, that need not be an unhygienic part of dress, alas! too often squeezes in a girl's waist and diminishes her breathing capacity. A silly notion that high heels and pointed toes belong to an elegant feminine shoe, lead too many of our girls to endure agonizing tortures when standing for hours on their poor deformed feet. They sacrifice health and comfort to a false ideal; and in our stormy winters, a multitude of women workers are not warm enough, nor adequately protected by useful wraps from wild wind and frigid weather.

"Hence their days off are taken into account. They cannot be treated precisely as men are. Sex and nature are against it, and theories go down before natural laws."

All Desire Simplicity.

A fortnight in the country, in the woods, on the farm, the tendency to make summer homes of the abandoned farms of New England that years ago furnished a livelihood for our sturdy forbears, all speak the spirit of the age. Even the millionaires desire simplicity.—National Magazine.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 12.—"Sam" S. Shubert, the theatrical manager whose death occurred this morning as a result of injuries in the Harrisburg train disaster, was a remarkable example of the young American who grasps his opportunities. Rising from a newsboy in Syracuse, N. Y., to a partnership with his brother Lee in the management or ownership of about a dozen theaters in this country and two abroad in the comparatively short span of 28 years—his age at the time of his death today—the life of "Sam" S. Shubert is interesting to every young man.

Only a few days ago Mr. Shubert was telling of his early love for the theater, and how he had sold programs in theaters ever since he was a lad. This inclination grew and the boy, educating himself along the lines of the stage, developed much artistic ability, and for the last few years he has been known as well for his dramatic handiwork as for his ability as a manager.

He has written in collaboration books and lyrics for many successful musical comedy productions. Like David Belasco, of whom it was said during his recent suit against members of the theatrical trust, that he knew so little of financial affairs that his manager gave him $5 a day for spending money and attended to everything else himself, Mr. Shubert cared nothing for the mercenary end of the business. Further than that, he knew comparatively little about it. Only two weeks ago Mr. Shubert returned from London, where he superintended arrangements for the opening of the new Shubert theater there, the Waldorf. Mr. Shubert was small of stature and mild in manner. He was an indefatigable worker, frequently remaining at his desk from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening. Then he would work until after the performance at night.

Not All "Cits" Favor McClellan.

R. Sulton Cutting, president of the Citizens Union, refused today to declare that an indorsement of Mayor McClellan by the union was an impossibility, but he intimated the mayor would have to modify some of his views expressed in the last campaign before he could have the support of the Citizens Union. When asked what he thought of John Brooks Leavitt's statement that the mayor should be renominated by acclamation, Mr. Cutting said: "It is one of the characteristics of the Citizens Union that members are perfectly free to express their individual opinions. We have no boss." Some of the Citizens are very much opposed to indorsing the mayor.

Too Far from the Bowery.

"Big Tim" Sullivan, M. C., is weary of official and social life in Washington, and next year he is going back to Albany as a state senator. He will not finish his term as a member of congress, but will resign in time to begin service at Albany on January 1, 1907. There was great rejoicing along the Bowery today and in all the fashionable streets of the Sixth and Eighth assembly districts, when it became known that the "Big Fellow" had let it be known that before sailing for Europe next month he will make formal announcement that next fall he will leave Washington for good, and will accept the nomination for state senator in the Eleventh senatorial district to succeed Senator Fitzgerald. When he was first asked to accept the nomination for congress in the Eighth district in 1902, in order to defeat the Hon. Perry Belmont, it is reported that his answer was "No, Washington is too far from the Bowery."

Federal Courts Should Settle Divorces.

In his decision annulling the marriage of Marguerite Lemon Littell, an opera singer, now connected with the Metropolitan Opera House Company, Judge Dugro of the supreme court said today: "There is something radically wrong about the divorce laws. It seems to me that they ought to be changed. Divorces should be taken entirely out of the jurisdiction of the state courts and placed under the jurisdiction of the federal courts. I would greatly prefer to make a different decision, but it is plain that the Chicago courts had not acquired jurisdiction in Mr. Littell's first wife's divorce suit and that decree is therefore void. So, although there is no doubt that Mr. Littell married Miss Lemon, the law compels me to grant the decree of annulment."

Another Chance for Carnegie.

Expectations of the 332 custom house inspectors at the port of New York have been disappointed by the failure of the government to furnish the three large rooms recently set aside for the use of their association in the upper story of the Barge office. The government furnished shower baths, but no soap, towels nor the slightest piece of furniture. As a result, the inspectors have big club rooms, which cost $10,000, furnished with nothing in particular. The men now ask donations to purchase furniture and fill up the library shelves with books. They may call the matter to the attention of Andrew Carnegie.

Count Sought Gift for Sweetheart.

"Raggi, Conte, Carlo," as he described himself, who walked out of a jewelry store on Twenty-third street yesterday with a $1,500 diamond brooch for which he had not paid, was taken to Jefferson Market court today to be arraigned. To Detective Sergeant Maurice Bonnoll he said his home was in Trieste, Italy, and that he came of a titled family. Some time ago, he added, he went to Monte Carlo, risked all he had, about 7,000 florins, and lost. The "conte" said the proprietor of the boarding house where he has been a guest had a pretty daughter, with whom he is infatuated, and he went out yesterday to see if he could not get her a present.

Had Prison Experience.

Ned Kishman, alias Texas Ed, alias Brake Rod, alias Cinders, alias Globe Trotter, the tramp who has been arrested in more countries than any man on earth, is back in Chicago. Kishman, who has carved his name on railway stations all over the world, has established a record of being incarcerated for vagrancy in the jails or prisons of 47 different countries. He has lost count of the number of times that he has been arrested, but declares he has viewed over 1,400 different prisons from the viewpoint of the man inside.—Chicago Tribune.

INCIDENTS

He Was Naturally Frightened.

"Stephen Troutman nearly lost his life Friday from fright, which threw him into an unconscious condition, from which he only recovered the next morning," says the Columbia (Mo.) Tribune. "It was not until nearly midnight that his pulse became perceptible, and three physicians worked over him all night long. The cause of his fright was quite peculiar. Early in the forenoon Oscar Clay and Timothy Quare went to the sandpit to get some sand. They had with them a basket and some tools, but had scarcely commenced work when the bank caved in, burying Quare to the neck. The tools were all buried also, and it was impossible for Clay to do anything toward digging Quare out. Afraid that a drove of pigs that were roaming about the place might injure Quare, Clay put the basket over Quare's head, weighted it with a stone, jumped into a wagon and drove at full speed for help. Scarcely was he out of sight when Troutman and his wife came driving by, and seeing the basket, Troutman got out of the wagon to get it. Quare had fainted by this time, and when Troutman lifted the basket and saw beneath only the head and ghastly face of Quare, he gave a frightful cry and fell down in a swoon. His shout frightened the horses and they ran three miles before they stopped, carrying Mrs. Troutman with them. The rescue party brought by Clay found that they had two helpless men on their hands instead of one."

Art at Meatman's Prices.

A story concerning the king of the Belgians is told by a French contemporary. A few years ago King Leopold noticed at an art exhibition a small painting representing a flock of sheep in a field at sunset time. When the king expressed a wish to buy the picture and asked the price, the artist put on a guileless look and said: "Supposing your majesty paid for my sheep at the butcher's value, 50 francs apiece?" The king glancing at the canvas, muttered, "Ten or 12 sheep—from 500 to 600 francs—not too much for the picture," and the bargain was concluded. Three days later the painter brought his canvas to the castle at Laeken. When the counting of the sheep began the artist pointed to a number of white dots in the background and said gravely: "Don't forget those. There are at least 1,000." "But isn't that just dust?" King Leopold asked anxiously. "No, sire, those are sheep." "On your word of honor?" "On my word of honor." And thus the king of Belgians, whose leaning toward strict economy is well known, paid 50,000 francs for a painting which would have been well paid for by 15,000.—Brown Book.

Testing by the Teeth.

Senator W. Murray Crane, at a Thanksgiving celebration in Dalton, talked about turkeys.

"From November on through the winter season," he said, "it is important to know how to tell a good turkey from a bad one—a young and tender from an old and tough bird.

"A farmer once examined his chore boy in this grave matter.

"'Roger,' he said, 'can you tell infallibly a young from an old turkey?'

"'Yes, indeed, I can, sir,' Roger answered.

"'How do you tell?'

"'By the teeth,' the boy replied.

"'Oh, rubbish, nonsense!' said the farmer. 'I am ashamed of you, Roger. Turkeys have no teeth.'

"'No,' said Roger, grinning, 'but I have.'"—New York Tribune.

Cash in Advance.

Representative Cochran of Missouri wished to illustrate some remarks that he was making about suspicious circumstances.

"There was a man," he said, "a well dressed man, who came to St. Joseph with a lot of luggage, and registered at one of our hotels.

"As he stood in the office, in conversation with the proprietor, a porter took up one of his boxes so roughly that the handle broke, and a heap of shirts and shoes and collars and so on rolled out over the floor.

"The guest and the porter started to pack these things into the box again. The proprietor, standing by, noticed among them an odd contrivance—ropes, a hook and tackle, and a big steel hook—and he pointed to this contrivance, saying:

"'What have you there?'

"'That,' said the guest, 'is a patent fire escape. I never travel without it. In case of fire I can, with this invention, let myself down from any hotel window, no matter what its height may be.'

"The landlord frowned.

"'Our terms for guests with fire escapes, sir,' he said, 'are invariably cash in advance.'"—Kansas City Journal.

What Difference Did It Make?

Richard Jordan, the famous Scottish checker player, was praising America.

"I will even praise," said Mr. Jordan, "the independence of the American waiter. In Europe the waiter is obsequious, not out of any real respect for you, but because, without this hypocritical humility and veneration, he would starve to death. Here in America there is no need for any strong man to starve to death, and the waiter need not be an obsequious and fawning hypocrite."

Mr. Jordan smiled.

"I meet the most peculiar waiters," he said. "The other day I said to one:

"'Waiter, is this a pork chop or a mutton chop?'

"'Can't you tell by the taste?' the waiter asked.

"'No,' I answered.

"'Well, then,' said the waiter, 'what difference does it make which it is?'"—New Orleans States.

SUMMONS SERVED ON ALEXANDER

James H. Hyde Begins Suit to Have Equitable's President Removed.

HE CHARGES A CONSPIRACY

NEW YORK, May 12.—James W. Alexander, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was served today with the summons and complaint in the suit brought against him by James H. Hyde, William H. McIntyre, Annie H. Hyde and Mary B. Ripley in which the plaintiffs desire the removal of Mr. Alexander from his position as trustee of the Hyde stock, and demand an accounting.

The complaint reviews the history of the establishment of the deed of trust and declares it to have been the fixed purpose of Henry B. Hyde that the control of the stock and the responsibility for the management of the society should remain with his descendants as long as the law would permit.

The complaint then charges that the defendant has made no effort to induce James H. Hyde, upon attaining his 30th birthday, and upon the termination of the trust, to make a new settlement of the stock and property, for any purpose, but instead "has for many months past been secretly engaged in organizing and carrying on a conspiracy, the purpose of which was to take the power of controlling the management of said society away from the stock without the consent of its holders, and to confer this power ostensibly upon the policy-holders, but in a form in which he expects to be able to control the management through proxies secured by agents of the society from policy-holders."

Charges a Conspiracy.

The defendant is charged with inaugurating "said conspiracy by joining with himself one Gage B. Tarbell, second vice president of the society," and it is alleged that all the "overt acts in said conspiracy were committed with the aid and connivance of said Tarbell." The complaint further charges President Alexander with "a wilful design to prostitute his trust so as to seize for himself the control of the property."

Mr. Alexander is also charged with circulating numerous scandalous stories about Mr. Hyde's management of the society and his private conduct. Mr. Hyde denies all these stories and specifically names the charge that he had given a masked ball at Sherry's, charging the cost to the Equitable; that there were "improper and scandalous occurrences, such as dancing a can-can on the dining table;" that he had engaged in certain financial operations alone or with others without telling Alexander, and had thereby hurt the Equitable; that he was connected with the purchase, sale, promotion and underwriting of securities of the United States Shipbuilding Company, or that the Equitable had become involved in such transactions by reason of the connection of Mr. Hyde therewith.

Ball Was Dignified.

Mr. Hyde declares that "said ball was in all respects a dignified and artistic entertainment;" that the story of the "can-can" was part of the conspiracy to injure him, and that these "defamatory statements" were timed to appear before the petition of the president and certain other officers of the Equitable for his removal.

Mr. Hyde says Mr. Alexander has been an equal sharer with him of all profits and losses in the financial transactions. He says that when the syndicate transaction of "James H. Hyde and associates" occurred, in which Japanese bonds were underwritten, he was in Europe; that participation in this syndicate was offered to defendant personally and he accepted it on behalf of 'James H. Hyde and associates,' and personally made the allotments to members of said syndicate and to plaintiff James H. Hyde a like amount."

The complaint declares that "the said defamatory and false charges have had the effect of seriously impairing public confidence in Mr. Hyde and in the society and its management and have affected its prosperity," and that the defendant "greatly damaged said trust estate, and has to no time accounted for said damage or for his administration of said trust.

"Wherefore plaintiffs pray for judgment of this court removing the defendant from his office as trustee, and require him to account for the injury done to said trustee estate by him as such trustee and for such other and further relief as the court shall deem just."

An answer to the summons and complaint of Mr. Hyde and others was made tonight by counsel for Mr. Alexander. The answer says that "the claim that Mr. Alexander has committed any breach of trust toward Mr. Hyde under the trust agreement is utterly baseless." The reply continues:

"The claim that Mr. Alexander is chargeable with some breach of duty by reason of favoring the mutualization of the company and thereby impairing the value of the stock for voting purposes, is also baseless. The charter of the company itself provides the insurance business of the company shall be conducted on the mutual plan, the method of giving the voting power to the policy-holders under certain conditions and with certain limitations. There is no question of the power of the directors by three-fourths vote, in accordance with the provisions of the charter, to give the voting power to the policy-holders having policies of $5,000 and over in amount, voting in person and not by proxy. If this power were exercised it would effectually destroy the control of the stock, since there are only 1,000 shares of stock and many thousands of policies in excess of $5,000, whose holders could vote in person.

"The plan of mutualization advocated by Mr. Alexander and in part by the board of directors simply carries out the original design of the charter, but carries it to its logical conclusion by removing the limitation of $5,000 and by allowing the policy-holders to vote by proxy as well as in person, as is the case in all other corporations."

Charges Are "Preposterous."

The answer says it was contemplated by the founders of the society that the mutualization plan should be put into complete operation, and Henry Hyde, one of the founders, emphatically and consistently declared that the entire profits of the company belonged to the policy-holders.

Continuing it says that the claim that Mr. Alexander under the trust deed is required at the expiration of the deed to use his efforts to induce Mr. Hyde to consent to a renewal "is a claim which has no possible bearing on the present situation, as the trust will not expire for more than a year, and nothing Mr. Alexander has done has interfered with this provision. Mr. Alexander, however, has resigned from the trusteeship, as he had a perfect right to do under the agreement.

"The preposterous character of Mr. Hyde's charges against Mr. Alexander in connection with this trust is shown by the circumstances that Mr. Alexander has cast no vote in the board of directors not concurred in by Mr. Hyde himself and his co-trustee, Mr. McIntyre, and that every vote of the directors was unanimous."

"The charge that Mr. Alexander, by advocating mutualization, has been in any way derelict in his duty, either to Mr. Hyde or to the society, is utterly unfounded. Mr. Alexander owed a duty to the society as its president, paramount to any purely theoretical or fanciful duty which he might be supposed to owe to Mr. Hyde as an individual. Mr. Alexander found himself confronted with a situation, which, in his judgment, called for radical reform. The absolute control of the enormous funds of the society and of the interests of the vast body of policyholders was vested, by reason of the ownership of certificates of stock representing a little over $50,000 in par value, in an individual.

Change Seemed Necessary.

"The future welfare of the society seemed to Mr. Alexander to demand that there should be a radical change. This danger had been rendered acute and pressing by the development within the society of conditions which appeared to involve constantly growing dangers. Under these circumstances Mr. Alexander conferred with counsel and with some members of the board of directors, and was advised by them that it was not only his right but his duty to remove these dangers and to bring about a permanent reform in the affairs of the society in the direction of giving the control of the company to the policy-holders, who are the real parties in interest and the beneficial owners of the property of the company.

"The pretence that Mr. Hyde has acted under duress in assenting to any of the steps taken by the board of directors in the direction of giving the right to vote to the policy-holders, is absurd. At the very outset of the agitation, and at the first meeting of the board of directors at which any steps were taken, on February 16, 1905, Mr. Hyde concurred in a resolution adopted unanimously by the board that it was the sense of the board the policy-holders should be given the right to vote and that this be carried into effect at the earliest possible date. From that time to this Mr. Hyde has concurred in every resolution adopted by the board of directors on this subject. So far as the complaint alleges any improper conduct on the part of Mr. Alexander, or those associated with him, the allegations are unfounded.

"The charge that Mr. Alexander has entered into a conspiracy to destroy the value of Mr. Hyde's stock is utterly groundless. To those who know the careful consideration given by Mr. Alexander on the subject prior to his action, the accusation seems amazing and reckless."

COLLEGE GRADUATES ENJOY THEIR BANQUET

The Franklin Alumni Hold a Feast and Discuss Old Times at the Colonial Hotel.

Seated around a table in the banquet room of the Colonial hotel last evening were nearly 100 men, old and young, who, at some period of their lives, carried away a diploma from Franklin college, of New Athens, O. It was the second banquet of the Western Pennsylvania alumni.

Today's departures of packets from the port of Cincinnati were: Tacoma, Pomeroy; Courier, Maysville, and City of Cincinnati, Louisville. All of the streams in this part of the country were running out wildly today. This condition caused a big rise in the river. The water crept up the bank more than 15 feet in 12 hours. Reports from above state that all of the side streams are running out and much of the timber which has lain on the ground for months has been floated off and will be ready for the market in a few days. Clear and warmer.

ALLIES DECLARE STRIKE IS LOST

Teamsters' Council Will Hold Meeting to Discuss Calling the Fight Off.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—Three severe blows were dealt to the cause of the striking teamsters tonight, and as a result the governing body of the organization, the teamsters' joint council, tomorrow night will meet to decide whether the strike shall be called off.

The decision to call this meeting of the council followed a two-hours' session between officers of the teamsters' union and of the Team Owners' association. The members of the latter body have all through the present strike been favorable to the teamsters, rather than to the Employers' association. Tonight, however, the Team Owners' association bluntly informed the teamsters that the strike was lost, and that the best thing they could do was to call off the strike at once.

The second blow came also from the Team Owners' association, when the resignation of John C. Driscoll, its secretary, was tendered and accepted. Secretary Driscoll has been an officer of the Team Owners' association since its inception several years ago, and during the present strike has been a potent factor on the side of the teamsters.

The third blow was administered by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, made up of business men from all parts of the state. At a secret meeting tonight the members of the association unanimously decided they would uphold the cause of the Employers' association, which has been conducting the fight against the striking teamsters, and that they would do all in their power to make the Employers' association a permanent institution.

The Employers' association today operated 1,000 wagons and made deliveries in all parts of the city in spite of the teamsters' strike. Two non-union drivers were assaulted and beaten, one of them so severely he may die. Beyond these cases there was no interference worth mentioning. It required, however, a force of 4,000 policemen and deputy sheriffs to afford security for the wagons and to guard freight houses and stores throughout the day.

It is announced tonight by the Employers' association and the express companies that they will increase the scope of their operations day by day, and in less than a week expect to be doing business as though there had never been a strike. White men are being brought into the city from surrounding states at the rate of 250 a day to take the places of the strikers. The negroes employed at first are being sent home as rapidly as they can be replaced. The white men engaged as teamsters are all men of character and none is accepted without personal references.

CHICAGO GETS CLUB TO HOLD OVER RAILWAY MEN

Receives Offer from Concern Either to Purchase or Lease Line on Which Court Says Franchise Has Expired.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—The city of Chicago today, through Mayor Dunne, received a definite offer for either purchase or lease of the street car tracks and franchise on the streets, which Federal Judge Grosscup recently decided had passed from the control of the Union Traction company.

John J. Cummings of the McGuire-Cummings company of this city made a definite bid for a contract with the city either to buy the rails and wires, or to lay new ones and operate street cars until there shall be a court decision as to the legality of the certificates issued under the so-called "Mueller" municipal ownership law.

Mr. Cummings' idea is merely to build and operate the road till the city wishes to purchase it from him with "Mueller" law certificates. He believes the latter to be legal and valid. Mayor Dunne's municipal ownership friends think this offer will prove the desired club to hold over the Chicago City Railway and Union Traction Company to bring them to a speedy settlement with the city.

NO TROUBLE ABOUT CARS.

Big Contract by the Baltimore & Ohio Subject of Misstatements by a News Bureau.

The steel car companies in this district have been fortunate recently in securing large orders from the Baltimore & Ohio and other railroad companies for new cars, and the work of construction is now being pushed as rapidly as possible. This will keep them busy for some time and give employment to a very large number of men. These orders will have a strong influence on the steel business and in promoting the general prosperous condition of Pittsburgh.

The report sent out from Pittsburgh to New York last Thursday that the purchase of 10,000 freight cars just contracted for by the Baltimore & Ohio, was authorized last November, and that the delay of the management in purchasing them has cost the company several million dollars more was explained yesterday by interests close to the steel and railroad companies to have emanated from an irresponsible source and was absolutely a misstatement. The directors of the Baltimore & Ohio, it was said, authorized the purchasing of the 250 locomotives and 10,000 freight cars February 1 last, and that the contract price is considerably less than the cost estimated by the directors when the purchase was authorized. Instead of the positive statement that the authorization for the purchase of 11,000 freight cars was given last fall, the board of directors then only authorized the purchase of 1,000 cars, which was quite sufficient to meet the business and traffic conditions existing at that time. These cars have been constructed, delivered and are now in service.

Mrs. Hanna Is Recovering.

Mrs. J. T. Hanna, who was injured in an automobile accident near Christ church, Center and Aiken avenues, recently, is recovering. It was reported yesterday Mrs. Hanna's injuries had taken a more serious turn and were likely to result fatally. At her home, 325 Aiken avenue, last night it was said that she had been able to sit up during the day and that her complete recovery was expected.

THE SAVAGE COMPANY SING "TANNHAEUSER"

Wagner's Fine Pastoral Is Sung With Pleasing Distinction—The Chorus Work Especially Noteworthy.

Barring the vocal glories of some of the one-time Grau song-birds, "Tannhaeuser" has not had so creditable revival in Pittsburgh in many years as that given it by the Savage opera company at the Nixon last night. Despite some striking vocal inequalities and the inadequate singing voices in the Wartburg music, that famous scene was carried through from first to last with fine spirit and melody. This result was due to the splendid dramatic abilities displayed by Miss Rennyson's voice and acting, and the melodic fullness and volume of the chorus members of the act. Tannhaeuser is, perhaps, the most appreciated of all the Wagnerian operas by the average music intelligence. It is pastoral in theme, and the great maestro kept his harmonies, even in their most characteristic flights, well within the sane laws of harmony. The result is that Tannhaeuser stirs and thrills the music sense, and the hearer follows its beautiful cadences or rises with its magnificent crescendos without sacrificing his ordinary conceptions of what music really is. The well-known overture, the Wartburg music and the beautiful sentiment that pervades the story all conspire to give the opera a value peculiar to itself. In Miss Gertrude Rennyson we have an Elizabeth who sings with clear, full voice, if at times disposed to assume a nasal quality, in the dramatic interview with Tannhaeuser Miss Rennyson was particularly fine last night. To the beautiful princess she gave a dignity of mental poise, combined with a sweetness and purity of lyricism that is rarely seen and heard, certainly never before by a native American singer trained in American schools. In Elizabeth, as in Tosca, Miss Rennyson has demonstrated her right to conspicuous honors, both as a singer and as an actress, and confirms her position as Mr. Savage's chief vocal star.

Mr. Wegener's Tannhaeuser was manly, sympathetic and in voice thoroughly adequate. Mr. Bennett's Landgrave was another excellent characterization, and his fine bass was heard to good advantage. Miss Newman's Venus was sung well, though she failed to infuse much spirit into her work. Miss Kate Sherwood deserves praise for the delicate and effective rendering of the Shepherd's song. Mr. Schenk conducted and again proved himself superior in the fire and energy that he manages to infuse into his players, though last night there was apparent a painful lack of tempo at times in the work of the orchestra. This afternoon "La Boheme" will be repeated, and tonight the engagement will end with a double bill, including "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci."

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR CONGRESSMEN

River Swollen by Rain Illustrates Benefit of Nine-Foot Stage.

RECEPTION AT PORTSMOUTH

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
AUSTIN BEACH, Staff Correspondent.

PORTSMOUTH, O., May 12.—One of the most striking object lessons afforded during the voyage of the rivers and harbors committee of the national house down the Ohio on the Queen City has been provided by nature.

When the Queen City cast loose at Pittsburgh Wednesday morning there were hardly four inches of water between her keel and the bottom of the river. Tonight the speedy steamer rides in a swelling, muddy tide with nearly 28 feet of water under her. Cincinnati reports a stage of 30 feet and the river still rising and the committee is assured that on Monday there will be a sufficient stage to carry the steamer over the falls at Louisville, something almost unprecedented at this season of the year. The wonderful transformation brought about by the terrific rains of the past 24 hours has been most interesting to members of the committee, and has shown them the advantage of a better stage of water.

Early this afternoon the sun broke through the clouds for the first time in 48 hours and permitted the carrying out, without interruption, the pleasing program arranged by the local committee here.

When Capt. J. F. Ellison, the superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line, saw the rift in the rain clouds he gave orders to put on a full head of steam and the Queen City came booming into this port at the rate of a mile in less than two and a half minutes, a speed she maintained for nearly 100 miles. This gave plenty of time for a delightful trolley ride and after that there was plenty of time to dress for a handsomely appointed banquet, given by the business men of Portsmouth at the Hotel Washington, at which Congressman W. T. Bannon of the Tenth Ohio district presided and introduced as the principal speaker his father, Judge J. W. Bannon. Two other congressmen joined their fellow-members for a short time during the day. At Huntington the picturesque "Jim" Hughes of the Fifth Virginia district and J. R. Bennett of Greenup, Ninth Kentucky, got aboard and helped boom the 9-foot stage. At the point where the Big Sandy empties into the Ohio with Kenova marking the end of West Virginia and Catlettsburg the beginning of Kentucky, the Queen City pushed up into the Big Sandy as far as the first lock. This stream is the water way to the greatest undeveloped field of coking coal in the world. The steamer was boarded today by committees from Gallipolis, Huntington, Catlettsburg, Ashland, Ironton and Portsmouth, but rain prevented the carrying out of the programs of all these places except Portsmouth. Chairman Burton has secured from the different local committees a mass of figures and facts for reference in the future.

Maysville and Ripley are to be touched before Cincinnati is reached early in the afternoon.

The Death Roll.

Funeral of Samuel P. Harbison.

Funeral services over the remains of Samuel P. Harbison, who died Wednesday, were held yesterday at 3 o'clock. The beautiful home at Brighton road and Davis avenue, Allegheny, was filled with mourning friends, many of whom were those who were associated with the deceased in various business enterprises. The services were opened with an address by the Rev. Dr. S. J. Glass of the McClure Avenue Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Harbison had for years been a regular attendant. The address was largely on the life and characteristics of the deceased. Dr. E. O. Cowan of the board of freedmen spoke for that body, the Western Theological seminary was represented by the Rev. COAL SHIPPERS BUSY.

Barge Water and Possibly a Boating Stage Expected Here Today.

Ten feet of water is looked for in the local rivers today. If such a stage is reached fully 20 steamboats, with about 4,000,000 bushels of coal in tow, will start from this city this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow morning. Had the rivers and harbors committee postponed its trip but a few days it would have seen real activity on the Ohio river.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company will be the heaviest shipper. This company will send out about 10 towboats with a number of barges and light coalboats. This company has about 200 barges ready to go out. It also has several hundred loaded coalboats here and in the upper pools.

The C. Jutte Company has a large number of boats and barges on hand for the rise, and will send a large number south as soon as the proper stage is realized. The United Coal Company will ship about 30 barges and a number of light boats. The Budd and Clyde companies will also send out a couple of tows each. In all more than 4,000,000 bushels of coal will be got out.

Women Love Shapeliness

Nothing worries them more than a gown askew, or a shoe that doesn't keep its trim neatness.

Women's Regals are the acme of shoe shapeliness. More than that they stay that way.

You can wear a Regal out—sometime—but if you treat it right you can't get it out of shape.

Good, old-fashioned hand-work accounts for that—the same grade of skilled workmanship that makes a well-tailored gown look "different" even when it's old.

The "Teck" shoe, illustrated here, is marked by unusual grace of outline and smooth trimness of instep and ankle.

LARKIN COVERS HIS FIRST TERM

Annual Report Embraces Three Years' Administration as Controller.

LONG MESSAGE TO COUNCILS

City Controller Larkin's annual report, with a lengthy message on municipal matters as a preface to the report, was sent to councils last night. The report not only covers the last fiscal year, ended January 31, 1905, but also embraces the full period of three years of Mr. Larkin's first term as controller.

He prides himself upon reducing the debt of the city $3,827,426 in three years, stating that the net debt of the city when he became controller was over $18,000,000. In this amount he includes an alleged deficiency of $1,130,000 and floating debts amounting to $1,122,000.

The controller publishes in his report a copy of the communication he sent to councils asking for an investigation of new sources of revenues, which led to the creation of Mr. Roenigk's special committee, which has failed yet to have a meeting.

One strong recommendation which the controller makes is to abolish the practice of assessing the city for street improvements, claiming that if the abutting property cannot bear the cost of the improvement, it should not be settled upon the city, citing one instance where the city had to pay $8,000 of a total assessment of $10,000 for the grading and paving of an alley.

On the subject of a tax on corporations the controller refers to the linear tax bill, declared unconstitutional by the supreme court, and speaks in general terms of Mr. Roenigk's special committee drafting a new revenue bill. The controller's actual report is a mass of figures and tables, in addition to the communication, which is printed in part as follows:

Report Covers Three Years.

In conformity with law, I have the honor to report the financial operations of the city for the year closing January 31, 1905, and in doing so have the pleasure to say the statement will cover a three years' dollar of city indebtedness up to the beginning of the present fiscal year, February 1, 1905. That the progress made in putting the finances of the city in acceptable form and as the facts warrant, the controller may be pardoned for stating that the bonded debt on January 31, 1902, did not show the entire debt as it was to be assumed, even though an apparent and stated deficiency of $1,130,016 97 were added.

On taking office April 7 that year, it was found there was a large floating indebtedness consisting of boulevard claims, obligations held by the Pennsylvania railroad, street assessments and other evidences of indebtedness for which no provision had been made and for which the city was honorably bound.

These floating claims when assembled amounted to $1,122,278 10, the liquidation of which was provided for by your honorable bodies through an issue of bonds at 4 per cent. The net bonded debt January 31, 1902, was $15,865,689 97; cash deficiency, $1,130,016 97; floating debt since bonded, $1,122,278 10; making a total net debt of $18,120,984 86.

Debt Reduced Over $3,000,000.

It was not an inviting task to undertake to cut that debt and provide amply at the same time for the good government of the city without increasing the millage, but with economy and the help of councils the millage was reduced from 15 mills in 1902 to 12.5 in 1904, and a reduction of the net public debt from $18,120,984 86, on January 31, 1902, to $14,053,104 08, on January 31, 1905, less a cash deficiency of $227,294 09, which, when added to the debt, leaves a total undisputed charge against the city on date stated of $14,206,488 77, or a shrinkage in our obligations of $3,827,496 00 in three years, and, in addition, the satisfaction of knowing that the debt is funded and audited as stated above.

To state above and illustrate the inequalities of taxation is an easy matter, but to bring about proper interest and secure amelioration, requires research, comparison, judgment and hard work that none but a committee of interested men with spare time on their hands can give. A talk with his honor, the mayor, gave assurance of his active participation in any effort to lighten taxation where it seemed disproportionate, or to review and readjust the revenue schedule. The conference with the mayor resulted in a communication to councils, and the passage of a joint resolution on March 27, 1905, authorizing the appointment of a committee of five to take up the subject and report back. The following gentlemen were then appointed: A. G. Roenigk, John Taylor, Charles Gulland, John Costello, P. J. Barry.

Old Claims Paid.

The only increase of debt since my induction into office was, as stated above, made necessary for the payment of old claims, $1,122,278 10 and the premiums on the bonds not only paid the interest on the claims for which they were issued, but left a surplus of $35,900, which, when deducted from the amount authorized, thus confined the issue to $1,086,378 10. In addition to this loan, your honorable bodies authorized a five-year loan of $300,000 at the urgent request of the director of the department of public safety to meet extraordinary expenses of that department incurred by the scourge of smallpox.

It seems to have been the practice in late years and is rapidly growing, of getting all the improvements that can be had at other people's expense. In other words, local improvements are very often made where the benefits are not equal to the damages, and the difference is charged to the city by the board of viewers. A street that is not able to take care of its own improvements should not be improved, unless it can be shown that surrounding territory and population will be convenienced and in that case it seems to me the assessment should be distributed and graded in proportion.

To illustrate: One block of Woolslayer's alley was graded and paved at a cost of $10,575, of which $8,250 was charged against the city. Downing street was graded and paved at a cost to abutting property of two-thirds of whole cost, the other one-third being charged to the city, and so on through a long list of improvements, which in any one year aggregate tens of thousands of dollars. I do not believe that in many of these cases, and the books are full of them, the general public is benefited in any way, and some plan should be adopted by which this practice of improving any portion of the local thoroughfares at the expense of the general public should be stopped. If the city owns any property abutting on the streets improved it should be assessed with it just as any other holder, not otherwise. Either change the law and make all improvements at public expense, or charge the cost to the abutting and benefited property.

New Tax on Corporations.

This ordinance, to which so much thought was given, and so much depended on as an equitable method of securing from public service corporations a fair equivalent for the privileges granted them by the city, has since the close of fiscal year been decided by the supreme court adversely to the city.

That the railways and other corporations affected should contribute their share of the cost of a government on which they must rely for business is to be expected and if not assented to in a proper spirit the relationship and reciprocity essential to well regulated and community interests are disturbed at the expense of all parties, and it naturally follows that the aggrieved interest seeks redress in some other and more drastic way. The opinion of the court and the subject will now be referred to Mr. Roenick's committee on revenues for review and the formation of a new ordinance along other lines.

AGREE TO SEPARATE.

William H. Donner and His Wife Quietly Arrange Their Property Relations and Part.

An agreement of separation has been entered into by William H. Donner, the well-known steel man of this city, and his wife. Their three children remain with Mr. Donner. Mrs. Donner has returned to her home in Indiana. The following statement of the case was made for Mr. Donner by A. Leo Weil, his attorney:

It is true that Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Donner have entered into an agreement of separation and have separated, the three children remaining with Mr. Donner. Property arrangements have been made and a satisfactory income provided for Mrs. Donner. The reasons for the separation are purely personal, the public has no interest therein, and it would be improper for the parties to discuss the same.

Mrs. Donner was represented by W. B. Rodgers as her counsel in the making of the agreements, and also by her brother and cousin. All the differences between the parties were fully discussed, and the agreements accordingly carefully prepared and executed. No proceedings have been instituted for a divorce by either party and none is contemplated.

"KID" FOLEY IS IN JURY'S CARE

Bail Jumper and Alleged Pickpocket on Trial Charged With Stealing Diamond.

JOHNSON KEEPS HIS THREAT

William Poole, alias "Kid" Foley, an alleged pickpocket, who caused so much trouble for County Detective Harry Merit when an attempt was made to arrest him in Allegheny, was on trial in criminal court all day yesterday, charged with stealing a diamond stud valued at $400 from Jacob W. Stevenson on a street car at Tarentum over a year ago. On account of the numerous developments in the case, one of which was the assault on Merit, who had a bench warrant for him after he had jumped his bail, the case attracted many officers to the court room.

Poole, it was claimed, had acted as a "stall" for two other pickpockets who robbed Stevenson and a man named Nicholas, who were passengers on the car. Poole was arrested, but the others escaped. After being locked up Poole promised to have the stolen property returned if he was given his liberty, denying at the same time that he had been implicated in the theft. He later returned the diamond, and the information was about to be withdrawn when Detective J. J. Finney made another information and had him held for court. Poole gave bail and was absent when his case was called. His bail was forfeited. Poole was next arrested in New York, but managed to secure his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus some 15 minutes before requisition papers, in charge of a local detective, could be served upon him. He was located a month ago in Allegheny, and a bench warrant issued. In arresting Poole Detective Merit was assaulted by three alleged thieves and had his revolver stolen, but managed to land his man.

Asserted He Was Honest.

Poole, when placed on the stand, claimed he was honest. In questioning him, Assistant District Attorney Robb showed that he (Poole) had a wide acquaintance with thieves in all parts of the country, having consorted with them since childhood. Poole claimed that he did not know who stole Stevenson's diamond stud, but later, through friends, was able to purchase it from the real thief and returned it to save trouble. The case is with the jury.

Other cases disposed of in criminal court were: William Cunningham, embezzlement, acquitted; Helen Wells, larceny, two years and four months, workhouse; Louis P. Watkins, larceny, four months, workhouse; Arthur Love, larceny, six months, workhouse; George Johnson, larceny, six months, workhouse; Steve Sophos, malicious mischief, 30 days, workhouse; John King, accused of entering a building, acquitted.

Because his wife had accused him of being intimate with a neighbor woman, which made him angry, John D. Thompson left her with these words, which, she says, he has so far fulfilled:

"Take a good look at me, for it is the last time you will see my face this side of heaven or wherever you or I go."

Not even the fact that his son lays at the point of death swerved him from this promise, for when she begged him by letter to return to her during this crisis, he refused.

These words were introduced as a part of the testimony of the divorce suit of Mrs. Lunetta A. Thompson of Allegheny against her husband charging desertion. The master recommends a decree. Mrs. Thompson said that beyond making the accusation, she always treated her husband as a wife should.

Led a Life of Ease.

Mary Sutton of Carnegie testified that Charles Sutton frequently struck her with his fist. She alleges he never worked after they were married, and that her father and brother supported both of them.

Decrees in divorce were: Mary A. Snead against Arthur H. Snead, Casimira Judcikis against John Judcikis and Nanna McCullock against John McCulloch, desertion being alleged in each case. Court refused a decree in the case of Tobias P. Poellot against Annie E. Poellot. No reasons were given for refusing the divorce, which was asked for on grounds of infidelity and desertion.

Judge Hawkins of orphans' court filed an opinion in the estate of John Shoup, dismissing the exceptions filed to the ruling of the auditing judge by Lewis E. Shoup, a son. The question passed on by Judge Hawkins is on the admissibility of parole evidence to show that the testator intended to create a spendthrift trust for his son. The court finds that the deceased willed one-third of his estate in trust for five years to his son, the income to be paid to him, but that at the end of the five years the principal of the one-third of the estate was bequeathed to him and his heirs forever, except the sum of $10,000, which was to be held in trust and the income paid during the life of the son, and at his death the principal was to go to his children.

Four Murder Indictments.

The grand jury for the March term of criminal court was discharged yesterday afternoon. Among the indictments returned were four charging murder. Norman H. Geyser is indicted for the murder of Mrs. Martha S. Kirkpatrick, the young Allegheny woman who was found strangled to death near her home, in the rear of 109 Jackson street, on February 4.

Guiseppa and Francisco Paniccio were indicted for the murder of Gaetano Giovadno, who was stabbed January 6, and died the next day.

Milos Milosevic was indicted for the murder of Milo Kovacivic, who was stabbed over a game of cards in Carey alley on March 2.

Cornelius Coombs is indicted for the murder of Mary E. Dickerson of McKeesport, who was shot on February 8 and died the following day in the McKeesport hospital.

The first and final account of the estate of Mary P. Dilworth, as filed for audit, shows a balance for distribution of $19,388 46. The estate was inventoried at $18,443 37, but increase in the values of stocks held and the receipts of damages to property from the city and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad increased the estate's value to $30,873 43. The estate of Eleanor B. Wolfe shows a balance for distribution of $88,954 84. The accounting is on the personal estate only and covers shares of stock in Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, Bank of Pittsburgh, Citizens Insurance Company, First National bank of Birmingham, National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, Teutonia Insurance Company, Westinghouse Airbrake Company and bonds of the United States Glass Company.

Little Boys' Novel Excuse.

There was an unusually large number of youngsters before Judge Frazer, sitting in juvenile court yesterday, the list not being completed until after 5 o'clock.

Patrick Cavanaugh, aged 8, and Joseph Misloski, of the Lawrenceville district, charged with carrying concealed weapons were sent to Morganza. When arrested the boys had in their possession aside from a miscellaneous lot of string, candles, etc., two new handy-billies. Cavanaugh, who is unusually bright, said they bought the weapons from a boy on the river bank, who told them they were braces for weak ankles. The boys have been before the court on several occasions.

John Howard, aged 8, has been in charge of the court for some time, and was sent to St. Paul's orphan asylum till his case can be investigated. The authorities cannot find out where he belongs, as he has given many different addresses.

Miss Irene Cowan was appointed a probation officer of juvenile court, the order being made by Judge Frazer, and she assumed her duties yesterday.

Executions issued: Sarah A. Hebrenk vs. L. B. and John H. Immel, $6,567 10; Anna Hastings vs. Ira I. Hill, $1,128 75; C. Williams vs. Lillian Kleker, $922; Ellen Brown vs. Herman Moses, $167 47; Hodson and Johnston vs. D. I. Elder, $418 61; Fidelity Title and Trust Company, administrator of estate of Finley Torrens vs. W. C. Gilmore, administrator of estate of Charles C. Scheid, $827 52; Martha Y. Paull vs. E. H. M. RAILROAD HEAD FAVORS RATE LAW

The President of Western Line Would Place Power in Commission.

COAL OPERATOR TESTIFIES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.

Today the senate committee on interstate commerce was favored with the novelty of having a railway man advocate the extension of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, in a letter from A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western railway. Mr. Stickney, in his communication to the committee, said that the commission would be the most satisfactory arbiter possible. Mr. Stickney thought that the commission should be allowed to fix minimum as well as maximum rates, or discrimination could not be prevented.

Mr. Stickney criticised the free pass system, "As an individual rule of action the law against free passes," he said, "was ignored by the congressmen who passed it, and by the president who approved it, and subsequently congressmen and president, with rare exceptions, have ignored its provisions. Traveling they present the evidence of their misdemeanor before the eyes of the public in a way which indicates no regard for the law. The governors of the states, many of the judges—in short, all officialdom, from the highest to the lowest—the higher clergy, college professors, editors, merchants, bankers, lawyers, present the evidence of their misdemeanor in the same manner.

Mr. Roosevelt an Example.

"There is one man, and but one man, whose example would be effective, and unless the American people have misjudged his character, if he realized that he was transgressing the law in accepting the courtesy of free transportation, Theodore Roosevelt would have the virtue and the courage and the ability to set the example which shall awaken officialdom and all good citizens, to a sense of the individual duty to obey this law."

President Ramsey of the Wabash concluded his testimony today by answering the questions asked by the members of the committee. "I want to say as a railroad man who has been building railroads since 1871, that there is not a railroad in the country that has its cost represented in its stock," said Mr. Ramsey. "Their $13,000,000,000 of capital stock do not represent the cost of the railroads of this country. In olden times railroads were welcomed as benefactors, and they were accorded liberal concessions. Today the condition is very different. I have recently had an experience in this respect. I built 60 miles of railroad into Pittsburgh. We had to pay for that 60 miles $40,000 a mile for the right-of-way. We had to give them anything they wanted. We paid whatever the people asked, because we knew that if we took them before a jury the jury would probably give them more than they asked."

Talked for Coal Operators.

After Mr. Ramsey had completed his testimony, a number of shippers from various sections of the country were placed on the stand. All of them protested against the passage of the Esch-Townsend bill. Among these was James B. Kerr of Clearfield, Pa., formerly secretary of the Democratic congressional committee, who spoke for the bituminous coal operators. He said:

From the viewpoint of a shipper I believe the proposition to give rate making power to the interstate commerce commission a dangerous experiment that would necessarily result in mistakes against which the public could not be protected. The carriers would suffer if there was an injustice to carriers. Rates are created by conditions and cannot be maintained by men against conditions. Proper rate adjustments are arrived at only by a close study of conditions by those who are daily and hourly in touch with the actual flow of business.

So far as the bituminous coal interests of Pennsylvania are concerned, the question of rebates being allowed to favored shippers is a thing of the past.

DO THE DEAD RETURN AT THIS MAN'S BIDDING?

Mysterious Power of Panopathic Professor Makes Human Heart Beat Again in Body of Woman.

HEALS HOPELESS INVALIDS

OF DISEASES PRONOUNCED INCURABLE BY PHYSICIANS, WITHOUT USELESS DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

Abandons Private Practice and Offers Services Free of Charge to the Sick and Afflicted—Makes the Deaf Hear, the Lame Walk and Cures Those Hundreds of Miles Away as Easily as Those Who Call in Person.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(Special Correspondence.)—Wallace Hadley, the famous professor of Panopathy and Physiatrics, has again demonstrated his mysterious power over disease. He shows that the drugs prescribed by doctors and the surgeon's knife are often worse than useless, and by healing hundreds of hopeless invalids pronounced incurable by physicians he proves his claims that there is no disease he may not cure. In defiance of the supposed laws and rules of modern medical practice and the theories of physicians and specialists, has made the human heart beat again in the body of a woman prepared for the grave, and performed other seeming miracles of restoration to life and health to men and women given up to death. Indeed, he succeeds in the face of such apparent impossibilities that he appears to possess a healing power unequaled in either ancient or modern times, a power above and beyond that given to ordinary mortals. In comparison the successful operations of the world's greatest specialists become insignificant child's play. Apparently the supposedly incurable diseases, such as paralysis, consumption, heart disease, cancer, deafness, etc., are cured by him just as easily as the more common disorders of humanity. Going still further, he has proved that he can cure patients in their own homes thousands of miles away just as quickly and surely as though they came to him in person. To extend the blessing of this wonderful power to mankind there remained but one thing for him to do, and that he has done by abandoning his private practice and offering his services free of charge to all who stand in need. He is quoted as saying that he feels it his religious duty to help the sick and afflicted independent of any reward.

One of the cases that makes possible the belief that Professor Hadley's power approaches supernatural control over disease even to the point of death, is that of a Mr. E. C. Reed of El Campo, Tex., who was rescued from the grave after the doctors had given him up to die, could do nothing to revive him and left him for dead. Brought to this condition by the combined attack of kidney and liver disease, dropsy and acute articular rheumatism, he suffered the torments of the damned and was almost insane with pain before the end came. The doctors and their medicines failed utterly. Although he was as good as dead when Professor Hadley's attention was drawn to the case he was speedily restored to life and health by this panopath's marvelous power, though even Mr. Reed himself confesses that he does not know how this miracle was performed. Another case almost equally remarkable was that of Mrs. J. G. Whitefield of Norfolk, Va., who asserts that he revived the vital spark in her body when she was prepared for the grave, that at the end of a long siege of illness from a complication of diseases her body felt cold and lifeless. But she says that Professor Hadley made her heart beat again, the blood flow through her veins once more and warmth return to her wasted body. Naturally she looks upon her rescue and restoration to health as passing understanding. Professor Hadley saved the life of Charles W. Miller of Columbia Furnace, Va., when threatened with deadly cancer, without the use of the knife or burning. He restored to perfect health Mrs. M. Worthington of Center Square, Pa., a woman who had been an invalid for 25 years from complicated female troubles, many long months bedridden in hospitals, and who had been pronounced hopelessly incurable and given up to die by all her physicians. Yet these are only random instances selected from among the hundreds where Professor Hadley's almost miraculous power has made the bonds of disease fall away as if they were broken chains and restored health and happiness to suffering men and women.

Naturally, the announcement that a man of such wonderful ability to heal will hereafter give services and home treatment free to all who ask is most sensational and far reaching in its effects, since it gives to everyone throughout the country, the poor as well as the rich, an equal opportunity to be cured by availing themselves of the philanthropic offer made by one of the greatest scientists of the age. And it is more remarkable and fortunate in view of the fact that there is no disease he may not cure.

When questioned in regard to his abandonment of private practice in order to devote himself to this new line of work for humanity, Professor Hadley said:

"Yes, it is true, but I intend to go on curing any one who is ill, of any disease they may have, just as long as I am able. Indeed, where I cured hundreds before, I expect to cure thousands hereafter, since now neither wealth nor poverty makes any difference in my accepting patients. I have become convinced that as a Christian it is my duty to help the sick and afflicted, wherever they may be, whoever they are, and whatever their circumstances."

"But what about those at a distance?"

"Distance makes no difference. I can cure those thousand of miles away just as easily as those who come to my office. A letter does just as much good as if I went to them or they came to me."

"Do you really mean that anyone who is sick can write to you to be cured, without paying you any money?"

"Exactly. I mean just that. All that any one who is ill, from any cause, has to do in order to enlist my services is to write to me, addressing Wallace Hadley, office 1062, No. 1358 Broadway, New York city, telling me the disease they suffer from most and their principal symptoms and I will send them a course of home treatment absolutely free of charge. While I am not a millionaire, and I appreciate the expense this may mean, I look upon the restoration to health of my fellow men not as a question of money, but as a duty I owe to humanity. I will have my reward in proving my power to the world and in showing the uselessness of wasting money on doctors and medicine when it is not necessary."

This Plan Has City Water, Gas and Sewers.

Come Today or Sunday Sure

There's bound to be a repetition of last Saturday's and Sunday's delighted crowds, and that means a rush finish of this fine property. Only a few lots left, but every one a good one.

Lonergan Leads Everything Along the TUNNEL ROUTE!

It's the most attractive proposition from any point of view. Better in lay of the land, cheaper in price and finer in everything that goes to make a home site desirable.

Contracts Let for 10 Houses Since Last Saturday.

Quick action this, but it shows the people's faith in Lonergan. Remember, this is a chance to buy at "ground-floor" prices in a practically sold-out district, where 250 houses have been built in the past year. Don't you think we're right when we call it the "money-harvest" plan?

SEALED VERDICT IN GIBNEY CASE

Jury Returns a Finding After Deliberating But Four Hours on the Testimony.

MAY FAVOR THE PLAINTIFF

The jury in the Gibney-Steiner breach of promise suit, in the United States circuit court, reached an agreement last night, and its sealed verdict will be opened before Judge Joseph Buffington at 10 o'clock this morning. The fact that the jurors finished their deliberations after sitting less than four hours is regarded as an indication that their decision favors the plaintiff.

The jury retired at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Two hours later the 12 men, marshaled by a tipstaff, marched out to a Third avenue restaurant and more than an hour was spent at dinner. When they returned there was some more balloting, and at the stroke of 8 o'clock they called the tipstaff and stated that they had reached a verdict. It was like the scattering of a class of schoolboys who had been "kept in," and many of the jurors hurried off to the theaters.

There was a little group of idlers waiting in the corridor of the government building when the jurors stepped off the elevator and every one, judging from the jolly appearance of the 12 men, prophesied that they had rewarded Miss Gibney. The favorite guess was that the plaintiff would be accorded $10,000 damages.

Damage Suit Promptly Begun.

The last juror in the breach of promise suit had not disappeared from the court room when the damage suit entered by Miss Gibney against the parents and sisters of Klaus J. Steiner was called. The plaintiff's attorneys asked for a postponement until Monday. The defense insisted that the case should proceed. For 10 minutes there was a merry tangle among the lawyers.

It was ended by the court ordering the trial to proceed. The jurors were called, but there were several lacking in securing a full panel, and court was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

The feature of the case yesterday was the reading of letters written by the plaintiff at a period when the love affair trembled in the balance. Miss Gibney's letters are no less loving than those of the defendant which have been aired before the public, but the young woman eliminated poetry and a profusion of quotations. One of the letters follows:

St. Louis, Mo., March 11, 1904.

My Darling—You had me guessing this morning when Alice handed me two letters in the same familiar dear old handwriting. I looked at the dates, and did not know which choice morsel to devour first, but, luckily, I really opened the first written, first, but before reading the other received its share of attention—just for curiosity to find out "where I was at." Then I devoured both sweet messages in close succession, and, oh! I was so happy!

Plaintiff Could Write Some.

I have laid aside my meal for tomorrow for a hash service and will chew it up into bits to extract all the sweetness. Dearest, it was so very dear and considerate of you to remember me so lovingly and be so indulgent with my weakness for letters. You are ever good to me, dear, and love you so greatly for it in choice manifestation of your devotion. You call me your "faithful darling," and how appropriate is the title for you, dear, for you are ever so faithful to me. You will discover on innumerable occasions, if you are a close observer, that we are possessed of very wonderful occult powers, and it will be an instructing study to notice all the strange incidents so tenderly fashioned by this mysterious wonderful love of ours.

Dearest, you write me quite a little treatise on the subject of honor in promises of marriage, and the ignominy of broken engagements, and, strange to relate, I had the "flurry" at a dinner table last evening on this very subject, on which I expressed myself very strongly, but a little at variance with your views. It came about in this way: In the afternoon when I was at a social affair I met a bride of a month who was a great advocate of speedy marriages, and very short engagements. She said: 'Doubtless you have not read the newspaper accounts of my wedding.' I was noncommittal, though I really had recalled the incidents very distinctly as she spoke. She then became talkative and stunned me with information that she was engaged to a gentleman for five weeks, when her present husband came along with an offer of marriage, when she asked to be released from the engagement with the first party and married the second, after a four days' engagement. I take it for granted that there was a former acquaintanceship, but as a record for short engagements that certainly takes the lead. She said: 'Really, two months would be the very longest engagement I could ever stand, for I know I would change my mind in a longer period.' That started me on a discussion.

Prefers a Break to Divorce.

Fancy a two months' trial when a life sentence is in store for one. Horrible!

Well, I really do believe in a girl breaking an engagement even at the last moment when she feels she has made a mistake, for I contend that it is better for both parties that a break should occur before rather than a divorce court, which is so often the case. When it comes to point of honor I consider the party more honorable who ends it all rather than marry because of a promise given.

As to the filthy lucre consideration, the man does not live, nor ever will, who could ever mend my heart by gold. I would rather die than engage in a breach of promise suit, so you are safe, dearest. If you ever wish to change your mind, only be good enough to give me the "magic" two weeks' notice, so I can make my plans for the future and let my heart petrify. Ha! Ha! I am scared. You understand if I choose to break my engagement at any time, my conscience will not even prick me, for I would think you were being well rid of me, and I just getting my eyes open. Ha! Ha! So much for experience. Dearest, no danger. I have been terribly slow in forming such an alliance, and having indulged in all sorts of theories on the subject, which in your case becomes practical.

I would dead sure, as I really loved you before I made a promise, and since that day I have ever kept step with you, and we have never made a back step, but ever onwards, upwards, with its rapid strides, and, dearest, my hand is ever in yours, and my heart beats for you each moment as truly and loyally as though I were your wife by a promise fulfilled and freely given. Yes, I am wearing the beautiful chain of gold which our love has forged link by link and represents each golden thought, deed, word and memory of the past eight months or more. Everything associated with you has a beautiful, heavenly radiance, all its own, and, dearest, I am ever basking in the glories of your love and devotion, as exists today, and I can recall it in the early days.

Wanted to Be an Easter Egg.

By the way, you tell me I am your whole world! Of course, that is news to me, having never heard it before, and strange to relate, I had just ready a very cute little script, which I have cut out of a paper to mail you apropos. Now, believe me, this was all planned that when I read your words I thought 'How very clever of me.'

Really, dear, I suppose we are at the mercy of our friends, and will have to be real amiable in trouble and disappointments. Then perhaps I was only joking about your doing the visiting in the future. For I did so want to be your "Easter egg." I am not selfish enough to wish that things were otherwise if the few weeks' rest would do your mother some good. I want to come, and I want to see you, oh! so much. But if I have to make it three engagements and break them, I really believe I will be dubbed a humbug and a fraud by disinterested parties in the case; you see, sweet? Oh, I do so sigh for heaven of which you are my portion and my allotment, and may my love sustain me in my weakness until we meet again. Your ever loving "Little Girl."

Another letter was read in which Miss Gibney refused Steiner his liberty. Miss Steiner, a sister of the defendant, was called. The witness said she had not complained about Miss Gibney, but had criticised her on two occasions. She showed her brother a comb which Miss Gibney had been using and called his attention to the strands of hair it contained. She said she had also asked her brothers to speak to Miss Gibney, calling her attention to the fact that she wore too many colors. She said there were 16 different colors in the young lady's gown.

Lacked Two Important Colors.

"Too much green and yellow?" suggested Mr. O'Brien.

"Green and yellow did not enter into the combination," answered Miss Steiner. "Sixteen colors without green and yellow!" exclaimed Mr. O'Brien, throwing up his hands.

Miss Gibney was called in rebuttal. She testified to a conversation with Miss Steiner in which the latter suggested that all the household linen should be marked with the letter "S." Miss Gibney said she straightway informed Miss Steiner that it was a bride's privilege to mark her linen as she pleased, and that her own name in a monogram was in perfect taste.

Mr. Dickey first addressed the jury. He declared that the plaintiff had come into court with a dollars-and-cents case and that she was looking wholly toward the commercial end. He scoffed at the idea of the young woman being hurt because her great love had been shattered. He argued that she had suffered no pecuniary loss and that it had not been proved that she had lost to any extent upon an elaborate wardrobe.

"Underclothing is something that people wear at all times," said Mr. Dickie. "At least they are supposed to. And, furthermore, a broken-hearted woman would have returned the presents which the defendant gave during their early love. She would not have brought them here marked as exhibits as this plaintiff has done."

Moved the Plaintiff to Tears.

Mr. O'Brien's argument for his fair client was a studied effort. Miss Gibney frequently was moved to tears while her attorney recited in a rich, eloquent voice the struggles she had endured. Steiner was characterized as a "cabbage-head, a sneak and a snob." The address was prefaced by reading extracts on love from the "Songs of Solomon" and all the classic poets, ancient and modern.

"And love today," said Mr. O'Brien, "is just as holy, just as pure and just as romantic as it was when Homer sang 3,000 years ago." He concluded:

Did Klaus J. Steiner love this young lady? If he did not he was the veriest hypocrite you or I have ever known. He is 30 years of age. If he ever will have any sense if he ever will know his mind and heart, he ought to know it now. Was there ever a courtship more regular, more ardent, more loving than this? You have heard in his letters, which were read here in this court, those flights of esthetic affection—words that were becoming of a man and a true lover. When this young lady crossed the threshold of that home in Allegheny it was a fatal hour for her and for her betrothed. It is but a repetition of that old, old story. You can't marry the whole family—you can't marry the father, mother and two sisters.

Criticised and Henpecked.

In that Allegheny home she was criticised and henpecked, and finally, when she was driven to the point of hysterics, what did Klaus do? Did the author of all these loving effusions take her away, as the manly lover would have done? No; he mustered up courage enough to run away and tell mamma. The harassed girl took that meeting in the library as an apology for their conduct and there, under a strange roof, she was entrapped by that scheme and pretext of an option—a method of bartering her happiness for six months or a year. Gentlemen of the jury, if there are any mercenary motives behind this case, you will find it in that bouquet of respectability on the other side of the table.

You heard old Mr. Steiner telling of this option. His story sounds as if he had been bartering in so much merchandise. No, it was an option on a woman's heart and love—the greatest fortune she can possess—held for six months, like the privilege to drill for oil or gas or build a skyscraper. Did you ever hear of anything more contemptible? Imagine that fate in store for your own daughter.

Mr. O'Brien held the attention of the great crowd in the court room for more than an hour.

At the conclusion of his address Judge Buffington in his charge to the jury stated that sentiment should cut no figure in finding a verdict. If upon sifting the facts it was found that a contract of marriage still existed, a verdict should be in favor of the plaintiff. If they considered the contract abrogated, then they should find in the defendant's favor. At 3:30 p. m. the jury retired.

Democrats Thank Republicans.

CLEARFIELD, May 12.—(Special.)—The Democratic county committee met here today and elected four delegates to the state convention at Harrisburg, May 24. They are: John F. Short, Clearfield; S. B. Caraher, Osceola Mills; A. C. Stear, Curwensville, and John F. Read, Falls Creek. Resolutions thanking Senator E. A. Irwin and Representative F. R. Scofield, Republicans of this county, for their course in the recent legislature were offered and passed unanimously.

LAST HOPE FADES AWAY FROM HOCH

Defense Unable to Refute Testimony That Wife Died from Arsenical Poisoning.

HIS CONFESSIONS ARE READ

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, May 12.—The last faint ray of hope of the defense in the Hoch trial to elude the fact that Mrs. Welcker-Hoch came to her death through arsenical poison faded away today during the cross-examination of Dr. Harold Moyer by Attorney Isadore Plotke. Prosecutor Olson had put the hypothetical question to the witness on the evidence as to the condition of Mrs. Hoch's body revealed by the autopsy. This hypothetical question was not objected to by the defense and will therefore go to the jury as a true statement of conditions in which Dr. Lewke, the coroner's physician, and other experts discovered the body. Dr. Moyer had replied to Attorney Olson's question:

"Under such circumstances what would you consider was the cause of death?"

"Arsenical poison," promptly responded Dr. Moyer.

"How long before death do you think the poison found in the body was administered?" questioned Attorney Plotke.

"Not more than 12 hours," answered Dr. Moyer.

Johanna Reichel, No 458 Milwaukee avenue, to whom Hoch fled when Mrs. Soehn accused him of the murder of her sister, and whom he is said to have tried to induce to run away with him to New York, was a witness for the state. She said Hoch came to her the night of January 19 and showed her a roll of $100 bills.

"He said he had $1,000," said Mrs. Reichel. "He told me he was going away, and looked up the time tables in the papers. He stayed at my house that night and left early the following morning. The next I heard of him he was arrested in New York."

The confessions of Hoch to Inspector Shippy and Attorney Olson, as well as the one he made in New York, were introduced in evidence. In his confession to Officer Loftus, Hoch said:

"It is all up with me. I knew that when I saw in the papers I was wanted in Chicago for murder, I bought the arsenic that is in the fountain pen holder, a revolver and a razor, intending to commit suicide. With the razor in my hand I stood before a looking-glass, but found I was a coward."

MONTAGUE IS EXONERATED.

Furrier Goes to Chicago and Proves His Innocence of Charge.

Robert Montague, an expert furrier of 173 Monterey street, Allegheny, returned from Chicago yesterday, where he had gone to answer a charge of appropriating a fur garment. Montague was formerly in business in Chicago, but left there some weeks ago to come to this city, where he has been employed in the past.

When he was leaving Chicago he had in his possession a fur given to him to clean and repair. He endeavored to return it to his customer, but she had moved from the address given him. He made several attempts to find the woman, but being unable to locate her, was compelled to bring it with him to this city.

Upon furnishing proof of these facts, the charge against Montague was at once withdrawn.

ALLEGHENY GETS BETTER SERVICE

Postmaster Francies Arranges for the Collection of Mail on Sunday.

NEW DISTRICTS FOR WORK

Postmaster John Francies is endeavoring to improve the mail service in Allegheny. Beginning tomorrow he will inaugurate a system of Sunday collections which will allow people living in the residence sections of the North Side to have their letters lifted promptly.

At present in the business district below North avenue and along Preble and Beaver avenues mail is collected on Sundays. In the balance of the city there are no collections after about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon until Monday morning. If one drops a letter in the box Saturday afternoon, the missive does not reach the Allegheny postoffice until about noon Monday.

Postmaster Francies could not arrange for collections from every box in the city on Sundays, so he has so districted the territory that by walking a little distance every person having a letter to post can drop it in a box along one of the various lines of collection. In the future a letter mailed along any of the routes before 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon will be started to its destination from the Allegheny postoffice by 7 o'clock that evening.

These are the routes Postmaster Francies has arranged: Brighton road from the city line to the postoffice; California avenue from High bridge to the postoffice; East street from Grecntree avenue to the postoffice; Perrysville avenue from Duquesne avenue to the postoffice.

It will require four carriers to work two hours each to make these collections. The Sunday labor will be divided among all of the carriers, so that the same men will not frequently have to do this extra duty.

RAILS FOR RAILROAD IN CUBA.

Steel Corporation Gets Big Contract from Concern in Havana Managed by a Former Pittsburgher.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(Special.)—Through the New York offices of the United States Steel Products Export Company—the foreign business end of the Steel Corporation—a contract was closed today for 15,000 tons of steel rails, standard size, for the construction of an extensive electric railway system to be built in Cuba by interests practically identical with those which control the Havana Electric Railway Company. The new concern is styled the Havana Central Railway Company, of which George F. Greenwood, a former Pittsburgher, is the general manager.

The Havana Central is to build about 120 miles of road. The lines will radiate from the Cuban capital to points in the province of Havana. One section will extend clear across the island to the town of Del Rosario. The enterprise also embraces the building of extensive docks in Havana.

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

Same Big Package
Same High Quality

Now 10 cts.

Malta-Vita "The Perfect Food," malt life, as its name implies, stands for that intense vitality that results from the daily use of a food skilfully prepared from the whole of the wheat, of which, after being cooked, each kernel has been subjected to the searching digestive action of the diastase and other enzymes of barley malt. This makes it a "predigested" food of highest nourishment value, which explains the remarkable results obtained in cases of nervous debility, deranged stomachs and constipation. Besides, it is the best food to eat.

"We have used several boxes of Malta-Vita and think it the finest food we have tried yet. Having used different kinds, we find Malta-Vita has a flavor which excels all others. We had almost despaired to find something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully in health and is entirely cured of constipation. In fact, myself and husband realize a great benefit since using the food, as we have suffered from general debility. We find it gives life and tone to the entire system." Name given on request by Malta-Vita Pure Food Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MALTA-VITA is a food with a "taste." It does not belong to the tasteless variety of "flaked foods" and too great credit cannot be claimed for Malta-Vita on account of the fact that it contains its own sweetening agent—maltose always being present in a proportion exceeding eight per cent and sometimes ten per cent. This is a healthy, digestible sugar, formed by the action of the malt diastase upon starch and it causes the stomach no inconvenience. This is not the case with flaked foods that are sweetened by cane sugar, beet sugar, maple sugar, boiled cider, glucose or grape sugar, as all these cause acidity in the stomach and are seriously injurious.

We Will Buy

A 50c Bottle of Liquozone and Give it to You to Try.

We want you to know about Liquozone, and the product itself can tell you more than we. So we ask you to let us buy you a bottle—a full-size bottle—to try. Let it prove that it does what medicine cannot do. See what a tonic it is. Learn that it does kill germs. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do.

This offer itself should convince you that Liquozone does as we claim. We would certainly not buy a bottle and give it to you if there was any doubt of results. You want those results; you want to be well and to keep well. And you can't do that—nobody can—without Liquozone.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of different cases, that Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you.

Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

WAGNER DUPLICATES A FAMOUS DELEHANTY HIT

PIRATES TAKE THE FINAL GAME

Ex-College Pitcher Caldwell Is Driven from Box—Phillippe Slightly Injured by Pitch.

GREAT HIT BY WAGNER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Pittsburgh made it three games out of four by defeating the Phillies 6 to 4 today. The ex-champions won the game in the second and third innings. They batted Ralph Caldwell, the ex-University of Pennsylvania pitcher, out of the box in the second inning, scoring four runs, one a home run hit by Wagner, and scored the winning run off Pittinger, who replaced Ralph in the third inning. Phillippe was hit on the elbow of his right arm by Pittinger as he was at the bat in the fourth inning and retired, being succeeded by Mike Lynch. He was not seriously hurt and will be in the game next week.

Left Fielder McGee's anxiety to lose the ball was the only thing that saved the game for Pittsburgh. Lynch was very wild and in the fifth, seventh and eighth innings helped to fill the bases by giving free passes. Each time McGee was the next batter up, and failed to put the ball out of the infield and the game was saved. Phillippe held the Phillies to two hits in three innings, while but four hits were made off Lynch in the remainder of the game. But four hits and two runs were secured off Pittinger by Clarke's men in six innings. Corridon pitched the final inning for Duffy's men.

Clarke began the game by hitting a grounder to Gleason. Beaumont beat out a bunt to Caldwell, Howard was called out on strikes and Beaumont was nipped stealing second. Wagner, the first man up in the second, straightened out one of Caldwell's slow curves for a home run. The ball sailed on a line to the club house in centerfield and bounded through an open door. "Hans" had turned third before Thomas found the ball. This feat was once before accomplished by the late Edgar Delehanty. Clancy, the next man up, was out, Gleason to Bransfield. Ritchey singled to center. McBride was retired, Caldwell to Bransfield, Ritchey taking second. McGee misjudged Carisch's hit and it was good for three bases, Ritchey scoring. Phillippe was safe on Gleason's fumble, Carisch crossing the plate. Clarke drew a pass. Beaumont scored Phillippe with a single to center. Pittinger then relieved Caldwell, and Howard died to Gleason.

Wagner walked in the third. Clancy hit for two bases, Wagner reaching third. Ritchey hit to Gleason and died at first, Wagner being caught at the plate on a double play. McBride sent Clancy home with a single to right field. Clancy hit for two bases in the fifth, but was not advanced. Pittsburgh secured its sixth run in the eighth. Wagner singled to left and was sacrificed to second by Clancy. Courtney did not get back to third base in time, after fielding Clancy's bunt, and Wagner ran to third, scoring on Bransfield's wild throw to third to head him off.

The Phillies scored a run in the third inning. Dooin hit for two bases. Pittinger struck out. Thomas was safe on Wagner's fumble, Dooin taking third. Phillippe had an easy double play in his grasp after stopping Courtney's grounder, but threw wild to Wagner at second and Thomas was safe, Dooin scoring, in the fifth Dooin was passed. Pittinger struck out. Thomas forced Dooin at second. Gleason and Courtney also were passed, but McGee forced Thomas at the plate. Dooin singled to left in the seventh. Pittinger sacrificed. Thomas was passed. Gleason struck out, but Courtney walked and McGee fouled to Carisch with the bases full.

In the eighth Titus hit for two bases to left. Bransfield took two seeks on his hit over Wagner's head. Titus ran to third. Dooin walked. With the bases full Dooin died to Wagner. Kruger batted for Pittinger and scored Titus with a fly to Beaumont. Thomas walked, again filling the bases. Gleason singled to center, Bransfield and Dooin scoring. Courtney walked and had McGee been able to make a hit the score would have been tied, but he grounded to Clancy. The Pittsburgh team left for Brooklyn tonight. The score:

PITTSBURGH HIGH SCHOOL WINS 12-INNING CONTEST

Defeats Rayen High School—W. and J. Twice Beats the Grove City College Nine.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 12.—Rayen and Pittsburgh High went 12 innings here this afternoon before the visitors won out, 6 to 5. After tieing the score in the ninth with his timely two-bagger, McKay lost it in the 12th by muffing a fly with two men out and allowing a Pittsburgh man to score. The game was intensely interesting throughout and both teams played fast ball. Jones was a trifle wild and but for his being so erratic Pittsburgh would have got the game. Several sensational plays were made in which the members of both teams took part. The star plays of the game were the catches of a line hit by Fuhs, a difficult running catch in right by Summers and the clever work of Kirk at short. The score:

M'KEESPORTS IS BEATEN BY BRADDOCK, 3 TO 2

Braddock took a fast game at McKeesport yesterday 3 to 2. Brookmiller, a McKeesport boy, was son the rubber for Braddock, and Emrick, a Braddock youth, did the pitching for McKeesport. Braddock won by opportune hitting and Brookmiller's pitching. He allowed but two singles, although seven men secured free transportation to first. Nine McKeesporters fanned the air. Brookmiller forced in a run in the ninth, but squirmed out of a bad hole after that with two bases full and none out. Manager Crawford has signed Gladfelter, the W. and J. coach, to play first and will use Piper behind the bat. Score:

Washington Pitcher Passes Up Heavy Hitters and Then Failed to Regain Control.

CLEVELAND NOW LEADS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., May 12.—Cleveland won today's game from Washington and thus regained first place in a most peculiar manner. With one out in the ninth, Bay doubled. Flick's out advanced Bay to third. Then, after a conference of Washington players, Jacobsen purposely passed Lajoie and Bradley. Then he found himself unable to pitch strikes and passed Turner, forcing Bay over the plate. With the exception of Stahl's home run over the left field fence, all of Washington's runs were secured on misjudged flies by the Cleveland out-fielders. Hill's one-handed pickups were a feature.—Attendance 5,906. Score:

WALL STREET SENTIMENT AGAIN QUITE CHEERFUL

Stock Market Active and Strong, Closing Higher All Around—Pittsburgh Coal Led the Dealings on the Local Board.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Wall street sentiment has again become quite cheerful, and the stock market yesterday was more active and stronger than on any previous day of the week. The sales exceeded a million shares, the activity increasing during the latter part of the session when the highest prices were recorded. Closing prices were not at the top, but in most cases represented net gains ranging from small fractions to 3½ per cent.

There were no important developments bearing upon values, and the early rise was based largely upon covering of shorts. Traders had been bearish and sold stocks freely during the week, but the market finally became narrower and offerings of stocks smaller. This indicated that liquidation had been thorough. If the market will not continue in one direction, then the professional traders try to start it in the opposite direction. This is what happened yesterday. The movement was helped by the slightly higher quotations for American securities in London, the partial recovery of English consols and the better tone reported in continental markets.

For the first time in two weeks the western clique became active in the dealings, and soon the rumor-mill was turning out a cheerful grist of prospective increases in dividends and deals for the harmonious adjustment of the western railroad situation. These rumors were most effective in the Harriman group, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific being bought in large amounts, and the buying was said to be of a better character than any recently seen. The net gain in Southern Pacific was small, but Union Pacific and Northern Pacific each closed 1 per cent higher. Baltimore & Ohio was another stock responsive to rumors of increased dividends and closed 2¼ per cent higher. Reading closed ⅝ higher and Pennsylvania ⅝ per cent higher.

Amalgamated Copper was one of the strongest members of the industrial group and closed at a net gain of 2⅛ per cent. American Smelting advanced to 118⅝, and American Locomotive common to 52½. All the railroad equipment stocks were active and higher. United States Steel issues were firm and made a good rally, the common selling at 32⅛ and the preferred at 99⅜. The advance in Pittsburgh Coal continued, but there was plain evidence of manipulation of the stock.

Consolidated Gas was the weak feature of the market. The directors declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, against 2½ per cent for the previous quarter, and on this reduction the stock opened lower at 189, recovered to 180½, and then sold off to 186½, closing at a net decline of 2½ per cent. The traction stocks were also rather heavy, because of a feeling that the United States supreme court may hand down a decision in the Ford franchise tax case next Monday. Metropolitan Street Railway closed unchanged, Metropolitan Securities ½ lower and Brooklyn Rapid Transit ⅛ higher.

The money market was a shade firmer at 2¼ to 2½ per cent, the final loan being at 2½ per cent. The preliminary estimates of the movements of currency during the week foreshadow a slight reduction in cash reserves in today's bank statement. It is possible, however, that this may be offset by a reduction in loans, the decrease in this item for the two previous weeks being smaller than seemed to be warranted by the liquidation in the stock market.

Pittsburgh Coal stocks and United States Steel common were the only active features of the local market. The volume of trading in Pittsburgh Coal was smaller than on Thursday, traders here being disposed to await developments in New York, which for the time being is making the market for this stock. The New York market ruled above the parity of Pittsburgh most of the day, but local traders found it more difficult to conduct profitable scalping operations, and hence sales were smaller. The common rallied to and closed at 20, a net gain of 1 per cent. The preferred did not sell above 79¾ here, as against 80, the high price in New York, and closed at 78¼, a net gain of ¼ per cent. River Coal preferred sold at 27⅞ to 28 and closed unchanged for the day. Both the United States Steel issues closed a dollar higher for the day, and the Crucible Steel issues closed fractionally higher. Westinghouse Electric closed ½ lower at 85. Manufacturers Light and Heat was strong, selling at 55¼ to 56 and closing at 36¼ bid. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas gained 1 per cent. Philadelphia Company also closed ½ higher. Independent Brewing common was firmer, while preferred closed unchanged at 41½. Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s closed ½ per cent lower at 103.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Stock market less active, but prices were firm and averaged higher.

Pittsburgh Coal common rallied to 20 and the preferred to 79¾.

Oil and gas stocks were firmer and closed ½ to 1 per cent higher.

United States Steel and Crucible issues closed ½ to 1 per cent higher.

Westinghouse Electric declined to and closed at 85.

IN WALL STREET.

Stock market sentiment more cheerful than on any previous day this week.

Sales included 1,054,000 shares stock and $3,435,000 bonds.

Baltimore & Ohio scored the largest net gain in the railroad list.

Smelting, Copper and Locomotive the strongest of the industrials.

Consolidated Gas declined on the reduction of the dividend rate.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The dealings in Pittsburgh Coal stocks were smaller on the local board yesterday than on Thursday. There were two reasons for this. One was that traders here were inclined to wait and see if New York was going to bid up prices. Late Thursday afternoon there were sales of the preferred in Pittsburgh at 77 and 78, while the stock was changing hands in New York at 79 and 79¾. These prices represented fine scalping profits for the brokers with fast wires to the eastern exchange. The other reason was that there were more brokers trying to take advantage of the difference in the prices in the two markets. At least four prominent brokers with New York stock exchange connections tried to sell Pittsburgh Coal yesterday at prices quoted on the ticker, but they met with such poor success that they did not continue their efforts. According to New York advices, the stock was under expert manipulation with the object of advancing the price and getting as little stock as possible.

A member of the local exchange who has taken an active part in the dealings in Pittsburgh Coal remarked yesterday: "Traders here are selling the stock on this advance, and some of them are going short. From personal knowledge I know that there is considerable short interest already outstanding, and this is likely to be increased. It looks to me as if arrangements had been made with expert manipulators in New York to make the stock active, and probably they will work the common up to 25 and the preferred above 80. Of course, people who bought these stocks at the low prices quoted last month have the opportunity to take nice profits today, and one can't blame them if they take profits; but it seems to me that local traders might do well to encourage and follow the movement in New York for the time being at least."

Oil and gas stocks were stronger yesterday, and the advances scored failed to bring any large offerings. Manufacturers Light and Heat rallied a dollar a share, Pittsburgh Oil and Gas a like amount, and Philadelphia Company ½ point. Ohio Fuel gained a fraction, selling at 39¼. The total transactions in all four issues did not average 100 shares each.

Pittsburgh Brewing issues were quoted exdividend and closed nominally unchanged. Independent Brewing common rallied a fraction and the preferred held steady at 41½. The street is rather favorably inclined toward the latter, now that it has entered the dividend list.

American Sewer Pipe was more active than for some time past, over 500 shares changing hands at 37¼ to 37½. Fireproofing stocks were neglected.

The Citizens Traction Company has declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable May 16 to stock of record May 10.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has offered two and one-half shares of its stock for each share of the Southwest Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The construction of the latter railway and its development as a part of the Pennsylvania system was furthered by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which for years has been lessee of the property. The Pennsylvania now owns three-fourths of the Southwest Pennsylvania Company's stock, and over two-thirds of its outstanding bonds, and it desires to purchase the minority holdings of the stock, amounting to $440,000.

One New York house yesterday sold 20,000 shares United States Steel preferred during the first hour. The market absorbed it readily and advanced.

Gross earnings of Chicago Great Western for the first week in May increased $11,418.

Wall street had a story that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. bought about 250,000 shares of Union Pacific on the last decline, and are holding what they bought, therefore the floating supply has been substantially reduced and the covering of shorts made a difficult and expensive task.

Gross earnings of Colorado Southern for the first week in May increased $29,868.

Consolidated Gas of New York and Brooklyn Union Gas each reduced its quarterly dividend from 2½ to 2 per cent.

After a careful study of stock market conditions the Wall Street Journal reaches the conclusion that "barring accidents, and developments that cannot be clearly foreseen, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the tendency of security prices is upwards, and that at some time in the not very far distant future the wave will pass the previous high-water mark. The crops are still to be made no doubt, and serious damage to the crops would undoubtedly give a setback to values; but taking the prospect as it stands, it is unquestionably very good."

Detroit City Gas directors have declared the regular semi-annual divided of 3 per cent. This compares with 2½ per cent declared six months ago and 2½ per cent (scrip dividend) declared a year ago.

Comptroller Ridgely, speaking of speculation by bank officers, says: "When the city banks find they cannot hold their country business if their officers are too closely allied with stock exchange houses and are in all sorts of promotions and underwritings, and known as the organizers of combinations and consolidations, in which it is morally sure they must be using the money and credit of the bank, directly or indirectly, such operations will become far less fashionable than of late. That class of business has no proper place in commercial banking."

There was a resumption of activity yesterday by a number of old pools in various stocks which have desisted lately from operations under the discouraging conditions in the market. A number of metal stocks which have been under the influence of merger rumors from time to time were conspicuous instances of this kind of activity. Another field of revived activity amongst the professionals was the circulation of rumors alleging the existence of plans to increase dividends on various stocks. The subsidiary Pennsylvania stocks and Reading were notably affected by this influence.

The preliminary estimates of the currency movements promised some decline in the cash reserves of the banks owing to the week's large absorption by the sub-treasury. It is supposed that there has been some surrender already of government deposits by the banks in anticipation of the maturity on Monday of the call of the secretary of the treasury, and this tendency has been also in the movement of currency from the interior on account of remittances made by interior banks to meet drafts on their New York correspondents for repayment of the government deposits. Money, however, continues extremely easy.

A special to The Gazette from New York last night said: "A powerful group of interests has been selected to handle the trading of the Pittsburgh Coal securities on the local exchange. New York is represented on the board of directors by Grant B. Schley of the banking house of Moore & Schley. There has been considerable buying of Pittsburgh Coal securities on the strength of the settlement of the bituminous coal war."

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Money on call easy at 2¼@2½ per cent; closing bid, 2¼ per cent; offered at 2½ per cent; time money easy and dull; 60 days and 90 days, 3¼ per cent; six months, 3½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4½ per cent; sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.70@4.86.75 for demand and at $4.84.60@4.84.65 for 60 days' bills; posted rates, $4.83½ and $4.87½; commercial bills, $4.84¾@4.84½; bar silver, 57⅝c; Mexican dollars, 44¼c; government bonds weak; railroad bonds firm.

SALE OF $42,000 IN WILKINSBURG

Henry H. Freeman Disposes of Penn Avenue Flats to Charles F. Sperling.

GOOD SALE BEYOND THE HUMP

Another Wilkinsburg apartment house was sold yesterday for $42,000 through the office of Farris & Co. The property belonged to Henry H. Freeman and was bought by Charles F. Sperling for an investment. It is located on the north side of Penn avenue, midway between Cosi street and Swissvale avenue, the lot being 66x122 feet. A four-story brick store and apartment building stand on the front of the lot and a two-story brick flat and a frame dwelling on the rear. There are three large store rooms and nine suites of four rooms each. These rent for $450 a month, making the property a first-class investment on the price paid. It is near the new Wilkinsburg, Wilmerding & East Pittsburgh street car line and in that part of Wilkinsburg which is greatly benefited by the Verona traction line.

In part payment for his Wilkinsburg holdings Mr. Freeman received six frame houses of seven rooms each on lots 20x100 feet, facing on the south side of Burgess street, near McIntire avenue, Tenth ward, Allegheny. These properties, which rent for $25 a month each, were put into the deal at $18,000, or $3,000 each.

Penn Avenue Sale of $24,000.

The former Gallinger property, more recently owned by James Cohen, at 1202-1204 Penn avenue, has been sold for $24,000. The lot is only 30x90 feet and has on it two frame store buildings. Mr. Cohen bought about three months ago for $17,500. The name of the present buyer is withheld and it is believed that he is dealing for several other properties in the same neighborhood. Several attempts have been made within a week to buy the property of G. W. Kettenburg, adjoining. This is a lot 25x100 feet, improved with a brick store building. Options have also been sought this week on the Spendau holdings of the same size at 1208 Penn avenue, but no sale has yet been consummated. A firm of Fourth avenue brokers has been making strenuous attempts also to get an option on the property of J. Wade at the corner of Penn avenue and Twelfth street, which is needed to complete a site for the building which, it is said, the would-be buyer plans to erect if he can get the frontage.

Property owners in Twenty-second street are also receiving frequent offers from agents nowadays for their holdings. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has condemned all the property below Smallman street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets for a produce yard. Twenty-second street being the only 60-foot thoroughfare leading to these yards is attracting most attention and prices of property there are held stiff. A new hotel is also reported for the big lot of the Stanislaus Roman Catholic church at Twenty-first and Smallman streets, which has figured in a number of options the last year.

A $20,000 Deal Beyond the Hump.

Through the Aronson Realty Company W. H. Hackett has sold to Prof. J. Athernan the property at 1720-1722 Fifth avenue, near Miltenberger street, for $20,000. About a week ago Mr. Hackett bought the property, which is known as the 2 Stack holdings, for $19,000. The lot adjoins the city engine house and is 23.6x129 feet. Two brick buildings on it rent for about $1,000 a year.

The Aronson Realty Company also sold for J. Stein to Trau & Loevner the property at 72 Fulton street, Eighth ward, for $16,000. The lot is 21x85 feet, at the corner of Pasture street and has on it a three-story store building, facing 16 Fulton street, and two houses facing in Pasture street. These rent for $2,100 a year.

Through the Real Estate Trust Company F. J. Irwin has sold to Timothy Griffin the residence at 338 North Craig street, near Center avenue, for $11,250 cash. The house is of the reception hall type and contains 11 rooms and two baths. Mr. Griffin will occupy the place as a home.

James W. Drape reports the sale of a tract of 25,000 acres of coal and timber in West Virginia. All particulars are withheld.

George G. Adams has purchased from Jacob Breiding a property 16.3x92 feet on the south side of Carson street, near Twelfth street, Twenty-eighth ward, for $18,000.

Fine Prospects in House Building.

Architects who make a specialty of fine house building are having the best run of business this month they have experienced since 1903. Property owners have evidently decided that prices are not going to be any lower. In some lines, notably lumber, there is every prospect that they will be higher. The supply of labor is reasonably well assured also, and those who held off from starting costly residences a few months ago on account of fears of strikes are now about to go ahead. There is an unusually large number of residences planned costing from $15,000 to $30,000. During the last two months at least a score of such houses have been announced for the Squirrel Hill district alone, and there are good indications that the activity which prevailed there a few years ago is about to return. In other parts of the East End there will be more fine residences erected this year than for three years, according to the statements of architects. Little doubt exists that the number of cheaper houses ranging in cost from $3,000 to $5,000 to be erected this summer in and around Pittsburgh will greatly surpass the total of any year since 1902. Contractors and architects who prepare plans for such dwellings say that in nearly every suburb a rush of building is starting and that it is hard to get work contracted ahead. Fully 500 houses will be built this season beyond Mt. Washington if the plans now maturing are carried out. In Bellevue, Wilkinsburg, Swissvale and other suburbs the house building movement is on strong again and dealers in builders' supplies report the best trade for a long time.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $1,006,150; government receipts from internal revenue, $719,233; customs, $776,885; miscellaneous, $44,000; expenditures, $1,740,000.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Edward Atkinson of Boston, in this week's issue of the Manufacturers Record, says the consumption of iron and steel in this country is over 550 pounds a head and may reach 800 pounds a head ere long—nearly treble the consumption of iron and steel in Great Britain or Germany for domestic purposes.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Consolidated Gas Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable on June 15 next. The last quarterly dividend was 2½ per cent, on March 15 last. On November 15, 1904, the company raised its dividend from 2 per cent, the rate it had been paying since 1894, with only two exceptions, to 2½ per cent. The Brooklyn Union Gas Company also declared a quarterly dividend today of 2 per cent, payable on June 1. The last dividend, in February was 2½ per cent.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company has been taking new business in pig iron on a basis of $13 for No. 2 foundry, Birmingham. The American Steel and Foundry Company has purchased 500 tons of foundry iron on a lower basis than prevailed a short time ago. There are no indications of an early resumption of activity in foundry iron.

SUGAR MAKERS FEAR FOREIGN REFINERS

Secret of the Big Drop Is Thus Explained and Future of the Market Is Uncertain.

All the local markets seem to have settled down. The sugar business seems to have touched bottom for the immediate present, but raw sugar is weak and there is still a threat of foreign sugars breaking into the domestic market. This has more or less of a disturbing tendency and it is not yet known what the next week will show.

Flour has advanced 5 cents on the strength of the advances in wheat. Advices to the wheat dealers are to the effect that 1,500,000 acres of wheat has been winter killed and this has advanced July. In spite of these reports it is known that there will be an immense wheat harvest, unless unfavorable weather conditions should develope before harvest.

The fruit market is settled and there are no changes in quotations. Strawberries are a little cheaper and plentiful. The quality of the berries now coming in is fair. But little is doing in the green goods line. Business is slower than at any time for several weeks and prices have undergone no changes in quotations. In spite of complaints of dullness business is generally rated as fair.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 9 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car feed, 1 car corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 1 car feed, 1 car hay; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car feed.

Hay and grain dealers are getting settled in their new quarters in the Grain Exchange building. More business was transacted yesterday than any other day this week. Lighter receipts and firmer markets in the west have caused a better feeling locally. Prices have been lower in Pittsburgh than lay-down cost. Such a condition never lasts long, however, hence an advance is not considered surprising.

UNSETTLED WEATHER IS STILL RETARDING TRADE

Confidence in Future Is Ruling Sentiment—Payments Are Fairly Prompt, While Money Is Easy.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: Unsettled weather, with much rain, and uneven distribution of moisture prevents crop prospects from attaining an ideal position, but the general result is much better than normal and far more satisfactory than at this time in 1904. Mercantile payments are fairly prompt, money easy and abundant while confidence in the future is the ruling sentiment. The decline in Wall street to the lowest rates of 60 on the most active railway securities since last January has had no perceptible influence on business, and railway earnings continue to make favorable comparisons with last year's figures, the early returns for April showing a gain of 9.7 per cent. Manufacturing activity is unabated, the leading industries reporting a minimum percentage of idle machinery, and pig iron production is expected to establish a new record with 2,400,000 tons for the current month. Foreign commerce has again shown an increase at this port over the same week last year, imports gaining $2,186,000. For the first time in many months the comparison as to exports was unfavorable, but the decrease was only $275,353. Real estate transfers are very heavy in all parts of the country, and in addition to the large amount of building operations in progress the number of new permits indicate that much more structural work is contemplated. Little interruption from labor controversies is still cause for gratification.

A little irregularity is noticed in reports from the leading centers of the iron and steel industry, but it was not to be expected that production and consumption would continue to establish new high water marks indefinitely. There is still great pressure for quick delivery of structural steel for bridges, buildings and cars, while practically all forms of railway equipment are in larger demand than supply.

After the stimulation of the special sales last week a decrease in activity in the dry goods market was to be expected. In the primary markets for cottons a few buyers still purchase for distant delivery, but as a rule operations are again confined to current requirements. The advancing raw material strengthens woolens, in which duplicate business arrives more freely. In all textile lines the mills are now well engaged. The leading boot and shoe shops are receiving additional fall orders, the prospect now being for as good a season as in 1904. While the hide market has lost none of its strength, it is less active, but there is a notable

AMONG THE CLUBS

Program to Eclipse the Last.

A meeting of the officers and directors of the Columbian Council of Jewish Women was held yesterday morning, when plans were outlined for a program for the coming season, which will be different in many features from that presented the past year, but which, it is expected, will eclipse it in general interest and scope. The arrangements include programs for eight afternoons and three evenings. Chairmen of some of the committees were appointed yesterday, but will not be announced until they have accepted the offices. The board appropriated $50 to the Hebrew Hospital Ladies' Aid society, the other appropriations made at the annual meeting being $200 for the Columbian Council school and settlement, $200 for the Soho bath, $50 for the juvenile court and $50 for the summer playgrounds. The juvenile court work, as it is being taken up by the Jewish women, is broadening in extent, and in a few weeks a probation officer will be appointed, whose salary will be paid by them, and who will work under their direction.

College Alumnae Meeting.

The Decade club, 11, composed of alumnae of the Pennsylvania College for Women, met yesterday afternoon at the home of its president, Miss Anna Houston, in Ridge avenue. It was a very informal meeting, the short program consisting of the discussion of current events, led by Miss Rosetta Moore and followed by the reading of a paper on William Morris, by Miss Houston. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Miss Margaret McClelland in Washington, Pa., on the second Friday in June. The club now has about 30 members, the alumnae of the Pennsylvania College for Women since 1901, graduates of the college until 1911 being eligible to membership. The officers of the club are Miss Anna Houston, president; Miss Sarah Pfeil, vice president; Miss Lyda Young secretary; Miss Grace Kingsbury, treasurer.

Board Adopts By-Laws.

The new board of directors of the Soho bath met yesterday afternoon and adopted by-laws. Three vice presidents were also elected, J. Boyd Duff, Charles G. Willcox and Mrs. Alfred Longmore. Two others will be elected later. The president of the board, Robert C. Hall, appointed Mrs. Alfred Longmore chairman of the house committee and Mrs. George Porter, chairman of the settlement committee. E. L. Mattern was appointed chairman of the press committee. The chairman of the finance committee will be chosen later. The board decided to meet on the first Friday afternoon of each month. The general committee for the Soho bath, of which Mrs. Alfred Longmore is chairman, decided at its last meeting to hold only one meeting each month hereafter, and selected the first Friday morning.

Coming Home from Harrisburg.

Mrs. William J. Askin of the New Era club, retiring president of the Winonanats club, who went to Harrisburg on Wednesday afternoon to attend the meeting of the nominating committee of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Womens is expected home this morning. The meeting of the nominating committee was held on Thursday morning in the room of the Young Men's Christian association. Mrs. Askin went to make a short visit to her daughter, Miss Ethel Askin, who is a student at Linitz seminary, near Lancaster, and last evening left for home.

Women Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the officers of the Woman's club of Carnegie yesterday afternoon resulted as follows: President, Mrs. C. A. Foster; first vice president, Mrs. E. A. Johns; second vice president, Mrs. W. H. Lea; recording secretary, Mrs. John Rodda; corresponding secretary, Miss Susan McNall; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Sanford; press correspondent, Mrs. J. A. Waldie; auditors, Mrs. J. C. Stauffer, Mrs. A. G. Over, Mrs. J. M. McPeak; historian, Miss Susan McNall.

Meeting Is Postponed a Month.

There was no meeting of the Epoch club yesterday morning, because of the death and funeral of Mrs. McFarlane, the mother of Mrs. J. C. Dunn, a member of the club. Mrs. Arthur Hartwell, who was to have entertained the members of the club in Sewickley yesterday, will entertain them on Friday, June 9. The next meeting of the club will be the occasion of the election of officers.

In the Oil fields.

The McBride & Co. well on the Waldron farm, west of Butler, is proving a creditable stayer and promises to make a bundle of money for its owners before any other wells get a pull at the territory. The gauge yesterday noon made the well producing at the rate of 45 barrels an hour. This would make the production more than 1,000 barrels a day. The territory in the vicinity has all been taken and the thing of most interest now is to see which of the lease holders can get rigs up and the drill started and be the first to reach the producing formation. It is expected that some of the wells will be put down in record-breaking time. The Southern Oil Company, the oil producing end of the Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company, has secured a lease on 40 acres of the Waldron farm, for which it paid $5,000, and now has the material on the ground for a rig. This location is about 500 feet east of the present gusher.

Development work in the lower southwest fields is lagging and the little work completed shows nothing better than small wells. West of Mannington, Marion county, in the 30-foot district, on Bartholomew run, the Freehold Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 on the Grubb farm showed quite an increase in its production for the second 24 hours after it was shot. The gauge for the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning was 450 barrels.

In the Fairview district, same county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the Reason Tennant farm into the top of the fourth sand and has a show of oil. In the Pine Grove extension, Wetzel county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 4 on the M. E. Greathouse farm through and 40 feet below the Gordon and has no show for a producer. In the Smithfield district the same company has drilled its No. 8 on the I. D. Morgan farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. It will make a light pumper. In the same district Treas & Brast have drilled their second test on the C. J. Higland farm 95 feet into the Big Injun and the hole has filled up 1,000 feet with fluid. Unless it improves with deeper drilling it will make a light well. The South Penn company has completed its No. 3 on the Peterson Price farm at a depth of 3,328 feet and will have a very light pumper.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. H. Davisson farm through the Gordon and unless a shot heips will have a very light pumper. Near Conway, Tyler county, the Tri-State Gas Company has drilled its old No. 1 on the J. M. Mayfield farm through the Gordon and found that formation barren. In the Garner district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Comoany has shot its No. 4 on the Margaret Hartley farm with 80 quarts. The well responded with a good dow and than bridged. In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 3 on the U. T. Robinson farm 20 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,800 feet with fluid.

All of the wells in the Yellow creek district, Calhoun county have declined and but two have any individual production of 100 or more barrels a day. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 2 on the Rose L. Norman farm is holding up at 125 barrels and the Carter Oil Company's No. 2 J. S. Nyner at 100 barrels a day.

Near Lowell, on the Ohio side, Washington county, Hall & Dyer have drilled their second test on the Andrew Tice farm through the sand and have a show for a very light pumper. North of Marietta, in the same county, the Watertown Oil Company has completed its test on the A. W. Remley farm and has a duster. West of Empire, Jefferson county, H. Dyer & Co. have completed No. 5 on the R. E. Glidden farm and have a 75-barrel producer in the Berea grit.

Deaf People Now Hear Whispers

Listening Machines Invented by a Kentuckian.

Invisible, When Worn, but Act Like Eye-Glasses.

Ever see a pair of Listening Machines? They make the Deaf hear distinctly. They are so soft in the ears one can't tell they are wearing them.

And, no one else can tell either, because they are out of sight when worn. Wilson's Ear Drums are to weak hearing what spectacles are to weak sight.

Because, they are sound-magnifiers, just as glasses are sight-magnifiers.

They rest the Ear Nerves by taking the strain off them—the strain of trying to hear dim sounds. They can be put into the ears, or taken out, in a minute, just as comfortably as spectacles can be put on and off.

And, they can be worn for weeks at a time, because they are ventilated, and so soft in the ear holes they are not felt even when the head rests on the pillow. They also protect any raw toner parts of the ear from wind, or cold, dust, or sudden and piercing sounds.

Those little telephones make it as easy for a Deaf person to hear weak sounds as spectacles make it easy to read fine print. And, the longer one wears them the better his hearing grows, because they rest up, and strengthen, the ear nerves. To rest a weak ear from straining is like resting a strained wrist from working.

Wilson's Ear Drums rest the Ear Nerves by making the sounds louder, so it is easy to understand without trying and straining. They make Deaf people cheerful and comfortable, because such people can talk with their friends without the friends having to shout back at them. They can hear without straining. It is the straining that puts such a queer, anxious look on the face of a deaf person.

Wilson's Ear Drums make all the sound strike hard on the center of the human ear drum, instead of spreading it weakly all over the surface. It thus makes the center of the human ear drum vibrate ten times as much as if the same sound struck the whole drum head. It is this vibration of the ear drum that carries sound to the hearing Nerves. When we make the drum vibrate ten times as much we make the sound ten times as loud and ten times as easy to understand.

This is why people who had not in years heard a clock strike can now hear that same clock tick anywhere in the room, while wearing Wilson's Ear Drums.

Deafness, from any cause, ear-ache, buzzing noises in the head, raw and running ears, broken ear drums, and other ear troubles, are relieved and cured (even after Ear Doctors have given up the case), by the use of these comfortable little ear-resterers and sound-magnifiers.

A sensible book, about Deafness, tells how they are made, and has printed in it letters from hundreds of people who are using them.

Clergymen, Lawyers, Physicians, Telegraph Operators, Trainmen, Workers in Boiler Shops and Foundries—four hundred people of all ranks who were Deaf, tell their experience in this free book. They tell how their hearing was brought back to them almost instantly, by the proper use of Wilson's Ear Drums.

Some of these very people may live near you, and be well known to you. What they have to say is mighty strong proof.

This book has been the means of making 226,000 Deaf people hear again. It will be mailed free to you if you merely write a post card for it today. Don't put off getting back your hearing. Write now, while you think of it. Get the free book of proof.

Write for it today to the Wilson Ear Drum Co. 842 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky.
